Burglaries spark value of prevention

KEVIN HANRAHAN
 Staff Reporter

An ounce of prevention can go a long way, but unfortunately for a number of businesses in downtown Antioch, prevention did not come to mind until after they were burglarized.

A string of recent burglaries downtown has store owners, restaurant owners and shop owners taking extra precautions to prevent the thief or thieves from striking again.

In October both J.J. Blinkers and Luigi's Restaurant were hit. Most recently, Brass Nuts, The Tulip Patch and Sonshine Books

Five downtown business hits appear to be related

Inc. were apparently burglarized on the same night, Nov. 17.

In each case, the burglar prised open an alley backdoor—barricaded doors in some cases—and stole available cash in registers. None of the businesses were damaged or ransacked.

"We think the burglaries are all related," said Antioch Deputy Chief Charles Watkins. "We're not taking it lightly."

Watkins said business owners and residents should exercise prevention even though Antioch appears to be a quiet and safe community.

"This is not unique. Every town has burglaries, especially around the holidays," Watkins said. "A little prevention can do wonders. People here are trusting because we don't have a lot of crime in Antioch. Sometimes the lack of crime creates a lot of attention when crime does occur."

Some downtown business owners noted that they may have fallen into the same sense of false security Watkins described.

Sewer study could soon be official

CLAUDIA M. LENART
 Regional Editor

The possibility of sewer service in Antioch Township has taken one step closer to reality. The Lake County Public Service Committee is likely to recommend a bid for the sewer study at next Wednesday's meeting.

Martin Galantha, head of Lake County Public Works, directed Devery Engineering Inc. to resubmit its bid to include the possibility of alternative methods to sewer in areas where sewer service may not be feasible. If the new bid passes the committee next week, it will go on to the full county board on Dec. 12.

"I'm hoping the township gets a good Christmas present," said Carolyn Jonites, president of the United Homeowners Associations of Unincorporated. See SEWER page A7

Antioch Food Pantry seeks variety of food donations

KEVIN HANRAHAN
 Staff Reporter

Sometimes it does matter what you give and how much.

The holiday season also marks the season of food drives for the less fortunate when people feel compelled to empty their cupboards from canned vegetables (such as wax beans, green beans and peas) and give them to the poor.

Although the Antioch Food Pantry, located at United Methodist Church on Main Street, will accept any food donation, it is currently experiencing an overabundance of canned vegetables.

"In the food drives, we are asking people not to give canned vegetables," said Ann Krumpas, president of the Antioch Food Pantry.

But she stressed that all food is given to needy families or stored for future use. That is also why the pantry prefers non-perishable food because it has limited space to store meats and other perishables.

She continued, "A lot of people don't realize that we do give out peanut butter and cereal, not just canned vegetables."

Krumpas said the food pantry could really use cereal (cold or hot), macaroni and cheese, tuna fish, pork and beans, kidney beans, canned fruit, peanut butter and jelly, spaghetti sauce and apple sauce.

Last year, the food pantry serviced approximately 305 families. Through October of this year, the pantry has serviced See FOOD page A7

Antioch Explorers honored for community service

KEVIN HANRAHAN
 Staff Reporter

"Diligence" and "110 percent effort" were phrases used to describe the efforts of Antioch Explorer Post 15.

Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug and Community Development Director Claude LeMere commended the Explorers for volunteering their assistance during various downtown events.

"Diligence and 110 percent effort—these phrases cannot begin to describe the dedication of the Explorers," LeMere said. "I cannot give them enough praise."

Detective Craig Somerville and assistant advisor Cameron Martz along with Explorers Craig Somerville Jr., Dawn DeSeri and Richard Anderson accepted a plaque from Mayor Shineflug honoring them for their community service. Other Explorers in the program include Mike Barr, Stephanie McLean and Jeremiah Brown.

The Antioch Explorers Post is a police preparation program with a focus toward community service for young adults age 14 to 21.

"We want kids who are obedient to their parents, who do good in school and who are an example in their community because they are a reflection of the police department," said Somerville, who is the Explorer advisor. See HONORED page A7

AUGS Senior Band hopes for Dan Quayle sighting

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Antioch Upper Grade's Senior Band might want to keep its fingers crossed and brush up on some patriotic songs just in case.

Although slight, there's a chance the band might be performing its holiday concert at the Racine Marriott, Dec. 4, before a passing former vice president, Dan Quayle.

According to band director Earl Bush, the 59-piece senior band is scheduled to perform a holiday concert at the Racine Marriott at 11:30 a.m. The former vice president is also scheduled to be the keynote speaker for a fund-raiser at the hotel at the same time.

"We have a chance to play before Dan Quayle, but I don't know what capacity he is going to be there," said Bush, who was going to remain hopeful until playing time.

"We're just going to be playing some holiday music in the lobby. Now, it may turn into something else," Bush said.

Quayle was the vice president while former President George Bush held office from 1988 to 1992. Quayle, a former senator from Indiana, also grabbed headlines by hinting that he may run for president in 1996. He later announced that he will not be seeking the presidency, but he still remains an active speaker for Republican candidates and issues.

After some checking, Lakeland Newspapers learned that Quayle will in fact be speaking at the hotel at 11:30 a.m. He is the keynote speaker for a fund-raiser for Wisconsin Congressman Mark Newman, who is seeking his first re-election in Dist. 1 which includes southeastern Wisconsin.

But a spokesperson representing Newman for Congress said the likelihood of the AUG senior band playing for Quayle is unlikely.

"Both things have no connection. As I understand it, the band will be playing in one part of the hotel and Mr. Quayle will be speaking in another part of the hotel," said Barbara Sellette, a campaign coordinator for Newman.

Sellette said Quayle will be in Racine for only a short time.

"We're so tightly scheduled that we only have the (former) vice president for 2.5 hours from the time he gets off the plane until the time gets back on the plane," Sellette said.

She did say the band might want to include a patriotic song as part of its repertoire—just in case.

Area schools score well in writing

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

A new writing program, a new reading program and a new computer technology program at three different elementary school districts should improve student scoring on state tests, according to school officials.

The state report cards for the Illinois Goal Assessment Program were released this month for Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34, Grass Lake School District 36 and Emmons School District 33.

District 34

At Antioch Elementary School, 92 percent of the third-graders either met or exceeded state goals in reading, another 94 percent met or exceeded state goals in mathematics and 80 percent met or exceeded state goals in reading.

At Oakland Grade School, mathematics proved to be the strong suit where 97 percent of the students met or exceeded state goals. In reading and writing, 87 and 86 percent met or exceeded state goals.

At Antioch Upper Grade, 100 percent of the sixth-graders met or exceeded state goals in writing, with 75 percent exceeding state goals. Ninety-eight percent of the eighth-graders also met or exceeded state goals in writing.

Superintendent Daniel Burke said a couple of relatively new programs contributed to the district's strong writing habits. For example, the district is beginning to recognize the success of the "Power Writing Program," which was instituted three years ago.

"It's a very methodical way of doing an essay. It's a step-by-step process, and the kids seem to be responding to it very well," Burke said.

District 34 also scored high marks in math, where on average 96 percent of the students either met or exceeded state goals.

"We try to incorporate math into everyday word problems," Burke said. "The teachers go out of their way to make math as meaningful as possible."

Burke said the district will be using the IGAP scores as a guide to help develop strengths and weaknesses. A new committee has been formed to update the district's strategic plan and action plan. "There's a lot on the horizon," Burke said.

District 36

At Grass Lake School, all sixth-graders met or exceeded state goals in writing and 91 percent of the third graders scored just as well. The eighth-grade dropped off at 83 percent. In math, 91 percent of the third-graders, 88 percent of the sixth-graders and 82 percent of the eighth-graders met or exceeded state goals. In reading, 91 percent of the third-graders, 78 percent of the sixth-graders and 68 percent of the eighth-graders met or exceeded state goals.

One area which seemed suspect was reading, but Superintendent James Beveridge said the district implemented the "Scholastic Reading Program" this year.

"It's a new reading program which stresses a lot of writing, so that will help scores," Beveridge said.

Grass Lake School is the first school in the state to experiment with the pilot program in grades K-5.

"It's fantastic because it elaborates on many different academic areas," Beveridge said. "If you read a topic on alligators, for example, you learn the ecological factors of the Everglades. It's very imaginative."

District 33

At Emmons School, Superintendent Matt Tabar said the scores were not as high as years past, but he noted the scores dropped slightly across the state.

In writing, 88 percent of the third-graders, 100 percent of the sixth-graders and 97 percent of the eighth-graders met or exceeded state goals. In mathematics, 96 percent of the third-graders, 97 percent of the sixth-graders and 97 percent of the eighth-graders met or exceeded state goals. In reading, 84 percent of the third-graders, 87 percent of the sixth-graders, and 81 percent of the eighth-graders met or exceeded state goals.

"They're not as high as in the past, but they're still very good," Tabar said. "I attributed it to a good school program and an education-minded community where the kids come here interested in learning."

He also said Emmons just incorporated a new computer technology program this year complete with computers, software, scanners and printers. Students and parents were instrumental in raising the funds for the computer program, Tabar said.

"The goal is to integrate the curriculum into technology and to see how many different subject areas we can use the computers," Tabar said.

Both Tabar and Beveridge, superintendents of one-school districts compared to larger Dist. 34, noted that the IGAP scores can be a bit deceiving because a few number of students not doing well on a test could mean a big percentage jump in the overall percentage of students not meeting state goals.

"You have to be careful with the scores, especially with a small school," Beveridge said. "If you have one or two students who don't do well, then it looks like a large percentage of the district is not doing well."

Antioch Junior Woman's Club, businesses help homeless

Through the efforts of the Antioch Junior Woman's Club, three dozen backpacks were purchased to hold and store donated necessities for the less fortunate.

The do-good organization has been collecting socks, scarves, toiletries, and snacks for the Public Action to Deliver Shelter at United Methodist Church in Antioch for a number of years. The PADS shelter at United Methodist Church houses homeless people and families.

But this year, club members raised money to buy backpacks to hold the donated items.

"Besides giving them different items, we thought, 'Gosh, wouldn't it be nice to give them something to keep their things,'" noted Amy Winters, co-chairman of the Home Life and Public Affairs Committee which spearheaded the backpack drive.

Winters said the backpack drive was possible through the generosity of Antioch businesses. More than 15 different businesses contributed to the effort that helped raise $500 to buy 36 backpacks. Ben Franklin in Antioch was able to strike a deal price for the backpacks, Winters said.

"The businesses were really generous, and they helped us make this project a success," Winters said.

She said the Junior Woman's Club wanted to personally acknowledge the participating Antioch businesses. They included:

Flo's Hair Care, Four Squires, Johnson Jewelers, Walgreens, ReMax, Colette and Ano Plumbing, Las Vegas Restaurant, Village Pub, Dr. Joan Johnson, Jewel, One-Hour Cleaners, Pips Printing, Marc Lubkeman of Edward D. Jones financial advising, Thelen's Sand and Gravel, the Rotary Club, and Ben Franklin.

"They were really generous," Winters added. "It really makes it nice that Antioch is a giving community."

Members of the Junior Woman's Club will be on hand at PADS on Dec. 17 to distribute the donated goods in backpacks. Any extra money will be earmarked to purchase 35 lunches for a bagged-lunch day next April.

Winters said the club will accept donations through Dec. 17. "If people still want to donate, that's wonderful. PADS could always use more help," Winters said. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Villages, schools plan joint meeting

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Representatives of Antioch High School Board, political leaders and feeder elementary districts will meet to continue discussing problems that affect them all.

"We will be talking about the growth issue and quality in education," Alan Simon, Dist. 41 superintendent, said.

The combined committee will meet on Dec. 5 at the high school.

Community leaders are also involved in the process. Attending the Nov. 1 meeting were Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug, Lake Villa Trustee Robert Raukohl, Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk. Trustees from all three villages were present.

Also in attendance were Antioch Elementary District Superintendent Dr. Daniel Burke, Emmons Superintendent Matt Tabor, Millburn Superintendent Jim Menzer, and Lake Villa Elementary Superintendent Dr. Alan Simon.

The districts met briefly last year to consider solutions for the space crunch dilemma most of them share. However, elementary districts decided to go their own way at that time.

Dr. Dennis Hockney, ACHS superintendent, indicated his board was interested in continuing discussions with the feeder districts and the communities. They suggested he schedule a meeting.

"There is a willingness to discuss issues that affect all of us in north Lake County educationally," Hockney said.

The first meeting was more a chance for everyone to get acquainted with each other and for new administrators to introduce themselves.

More in-depth discussions concerning increased residential growth and how it impacts the district is expected to take place.

ACHS seeks skiing, ice skating equipment

Antioch Community High School seeks cross country ski equipment and ice skates which are in good condition.

The Physical Education Department, under the direction of Steve Wapon, is hoping to offer instruction in cross country skiing and ice skating.

"The department has been seeking activities to teach which will provide life-long health and wellness activities to students," Wapon said.

Wapon noted that cross country skiing and ice skating are activities which students can learn now and enjoy for the rest of their lives.

The physical education department is accepting donations of cross country ski equipment and ice skates.

Anyone having such equipment and who wants to donate it may make arrangements by contacting the school at 395-1421 and ask for Wapon at extension 245.

Persons making a cash donation by check are asked to include a note with the check stating that the donation is for cross country ski equipment or the ice skating program. All donations are tax deductible.

Chamber, CAN name holiday window winners

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Community Action Now announced the winners of the third annual window-decorating contest in Antioch.

The downtown winners included:

- First place, Kathy's Cottage, 945 Main St.;
- Second place, Patricia's Giftwear, 395 Lake St.;
- Third place, William Brothers Emporium, 910 Main St.;

There was a tie for second place in the Antioch Township competition. Winners included:

- First place, Hardee's, 1150 Main St.;
- Second Place, Selenak's Carpet Villa, 573 Route 173;

- Second place, Christine's Boutique, 26426 W. Shannon Ave.

Vivian Tauscheck, business manager of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, also reported that children of all ages found their way to Santa's Enchanted Castle on Toft Street.

"The kids were lined up even before the parade. It was a good turn out this weekend," Tauscheck said.

Approximately 62 children were on hand Friday night, 181 children Saturday, and 141 children Sunday.

Santa's Enchanted Castle will be open through Dec. 23. Hours are 5:30 to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday; and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

Carriage rides through downtown Antioch will be offered every Saturday and Sunday through Dec. 17 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Police Beat

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Speeder wanted by Lake County

Antioch police stopped a vehicle speeding on Route 83 and Windsor Drive Nov. 22. According to police reports, Daniel Chagdes, 34, of Antioch, was traveling 44 mph in a 30 mph zone and he failed to activate his directional while turning left on Windsor. After further investigation, police learned Chagdes was driving with a revoked license and was wanted on an active warrant by the Lake County Sheriff's Department. Chagdes was arrested for speeding, failure to signal and driving while his license was revoked. He was released on a $1,000 recognizance bond and will appear in court in Grayslake Dec. 27. He also posted a $300 cash bond for the warrant and will appear in Waukegan court Dec. 8 for that charge.

Minor stopped for DUI

On Nov. 21, police stopped Jason Clark, 18, of McHenry, for speeding and crossing the centerline. According to police, Clark was traveling 50 mph in a 35 mph zone on Route 173 and he crossed the centerline near Osmond and Harden streets. Police said Clark fumbled through his glove box looking for his identifiers and used his vehicle for balance. On a breathalyzer, he registered a .14. Clark was charged with DUI, driving with a suspended license and minor consumption of alcohol. He was released and will appear in Waukegan court Dec. 19.

Police recognize previous offender

On Nov. 20, police stopped Todd McClendon, 22, of Antioch, on Route 83 near Beach Grove Road. According to police, the arresting officer was "aware of his driver's license status as revoked" through prior contacts. McClendon did not produce a license but said he requested a driving permit. Police said McClendon had no paperwork to show he holds a driving permit. McClendon was charged with a defective windshield, driving while revoked and no insurance. He was released on a $2,000 recognizance bond and will appear in Grayslake court Dec. 13.

LAKE VILLA

Station owner arrested

Stan Gallus, 46, 209 Monaville Road, Lake Villa, on Nov. 21, was arrested for disorderly conduct. The complainant alleges Gallus threatened to beat him up after he wanted Gallus to credit him for an oil change that appeared not to have been done. The complainant told police Gallus told him to get out of the station or he would have to hit him. Gallus was arrested on Nov. 22.

Car damaged

A vehicle window was broken at the 400 block of Arapaho Trail on Nov. 18. The damage is estimated at $110.

LINDENHURST

Car thefts reported

A car owner reported a cell phone, a radar detector and $20 in cash were found missing from a vehicle which was in a garage on the 1900 block of Elmwood on Nov. 25. Another truck owner reported skis and boots were stolen from his cab on Nov. 25 while parked in a restaurant lot. The hinges on the cab appear to have been pried off.

Antioch VFW Post 4551 members (from left) Al Himber, Dick Burnette, John Kurinec, and Ron Swanson take a moment to relish the plaque they received honoring them and the post for 50 years of service to country and community. Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug presented them the plaque.

Village honors VFW for 50 years of duty

Staff Reporter

Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug extended her hand in grateful appreciation to VFW Post 4551 members for their 50 years of service in Antioch.

In honor of the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II and in honor of the golden anniversary of the VFW Post in Antioch, Shineflug presented the post with a plaque which read, "In grateful appreciation of 50 years of service to your country and your community."

Accepting the plaque were Post Commander John Kurinec, Dick Burnette, Ron Swanson and Al Himber.

Shineflug reiterated their dual service to country and community.

"I can't say enough for what you've done not only for your country but for your community... and in keeping the importance of the armed forces," Shineflug said.

Earlier this year on Memorial Day, the VFW dedicated a Vietnam-era Sheridan Tank which stands behind the village hall on Toft Street.

Kurinec said the post is looking for new members to join the post. To be a member of the VFW, an armed forces veteran must have served in a foreign land such as Korea, Vietnam or Operation Desert Storm in the Middle East. Veterans also benefit from a variety of insurance and special assistance.

"We are in need of new members," Kurinec said. "We work with the families, and we work in the area of Antioch."

Currently, the VFW is facilitating the "Toys For Tots" program, which is sponsored by the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. The Post is collecting new and unwrapped toys through Dec. 21. The post located at 75 North Ave. will be open from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Saturday.

In addition, VFW members hold a monthly social at the Veteran's Administration Hospital in North Chicago. Antioch VFW members share snacks and camaraderie with patients at the hospital monthly.

"We help them out in whatever way we can," Kurinec said.

The post also made a $2,000 donation to the Antioch Rescue Squad this year. In addition, the post will be seeking high school graduate nominees for its scholarship program.

For more information about becoming a member of Antioch Post 4551, call Kurinec at 395-5393.

Woman killed in Rte. 41 truck collision

A Glendale Heights woman was killed when her vehicle was struck by a semi-truck Nov. 28.

Dead is Nylah Aguas, age 21.

The accident at Route 41 and Delany Road took place about 1 a.m., according to Gurnee Police Commander Fred Witte.

The driver of the truck told police he had the green light when the driver of the Ford Escort was in the intersection, trying to turn left to southbound Route 41. The truck driver tried to apply his breaks but could not.

"The victim was probably dead on impact," Witte said.

There were no tickets issued and the accident remains under investigation. Police are looking for more witnesses.

Witte described the roads as wet and slushy but did not know if that was a factor.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Train problem

Editor:

Now that the referendum for two fire engines and one ambulance has been passed, I think its time the residents of Lake Villa and Lindenhurst be informed of the potential danger we all live with.

Though the fire department and rescue personnel do their jobs well, they have a very real problem to deal with each time they respond to a 911 call. Trains!

All fire equipment and personnel are located on the west side of the tracks, while all rescue equipment and personnel are located on the east side of the tracks.

It's my belief, most residents of Lake Villa and Lindenhurst are under the assumption that fire and rescues have combined equipment at both locations (Fire Stations and Public Safety Building Rescue). Those who attended the open house last October, might have been misled, thinking that each building housed both kinds of emergency equipment. Not so.

This system of keeping the equipment separate may have worked in the past when both villages were small, but look around, huge subdivisions are being built everywhere. Now the village trustees are looking to have commercial and retail move into the area.

When a resident calls 911, they should not have to worry about whether or not a train might keep the kind of emergency equipment and personnel from coming to their aid. For that matter, what other district, miles away, might need to be called in to cover for our own emergency equipment, all wasting precious time that cannot and should not be wasted.

It's time the fire department moved some equipment and personnel to the building on Grand and Deep Lake Road and rescue squad personnel be housed at the fire station in downtown Lake Villa. This way the fire and rescue can work together to protect all the residents of both villages.

Explore Lake County's geology, glacial legacy

Two million years ago, long before highways, homes and snow plows, glaciers covered Lake County helping to form the landscape we see today. Discover the significance of Lake County's glacial legacy and geology during two programs offered by the Lake County Forest Preserves.

Spend a morning with College of Lake County Geology Professor, Ron Riepe, at Geology of Lake County on Saturday, Dec. 9 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Lake County Forest Preserve General Offices in Libertyville. Professor Riepe will examine how glaciers contributed to the area's natural features and why it supports the species it does today. Participants will also learn how to recognize glacial deposits.

As part of the Forest Preserves School of the Woods series, Geology of Lake County is open to adults only. The fee is $14 ($10 for Lake County residents). Reservations and prepayment are required. The Forest Preserve General Offices are located on the east side of Route 21 (Milwaukee Avenue), just north of Route 137 (Buckley Road) in Libertyville.

Join a Lake County Forest Preserve volunteer nature guide for Glacial Legacy on Sunday, Dec. 10 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at Gander Mountain Forest Preserve near Wilmet. Explore the county's highest point, find out how glaciers affected the landscape and enjoy an outstanding view from atop Gander Mountain.

The Glacial Legacy program is open to adults and families with children ages 10 and older. The fee is $3 ($2 for Lake County residents). Reservations are required. Gander Mountain is located on Wilmet Road, one mile north of Route 173, near Wilmet.

For more information or to make your reservation for Glacial Legacy or Geology of Lake County call 948-7750.

So, Bill, what exactly are you saying here?

There are some things that men and women will never agree on. Women feel men watch way too many sporting events on TV, and men feel women spend way too much time talking on the phone; a stand-off which will never be resolved. Case in point: One recent morning Bill Seamon, husband of Cindy, came waltzing out of the bedroom at 6 a.m., waving the telephone bill under wifey's face while grandly announcing, "Do you realize you spent 26 hours on the phone during the month of October?"

Taken quite by surprise, Mrs. Seamon's instinctive response was: "What?" Hubby cackled once again, "Do you realize you spent 26 hours on the phone during the month of October?" Now what does one say when being so unjustly ambushed? It's early in the morning, the contacts haven't been put in the eyes, the coffee hasn't finished dripping, and the morning slime hasn't been brushed off the pearly whites. Cindy came back with that second, defensive all-powerful retort: "So!"

Bill needed to hear no more, his dander was up and her goose was cooked, "No wonder you can never get anything done, you are constantly yaking on that phone." Then to rub salt in an already open, festering wound, he informed her this only reflected the number of minutes from calls made from their phone. He figured with the number of calls coming into the house (these he had no way of monitoring), old Cindy gal was up to about 40 hours a month on that modern technological device.

The only rational thought running through Cindy's mind throughout this whole ordeal was: some men bring their wives flowers, chocolates, or diamonds, mine comes complete with his own wagging phone bill. Now just to set the record straight here, Bill was not upset about the amount of the bill, just the number next to the heading, "Number of minutes wife wasted while the laundry went unwashed, the cleaning went untouched, and the food went uncooked." Cindy graciously held her temper, and very calmly suggested hubby go buy a thank-you card—ah, this unexpected twist knocked some of the wind out of his sails.

To his slowly deflating chest, she remarked how the people who invented the cordless phone deserved a thank-you because without that little mechanism attached to her ear, the household chores would indeed go undone and it just proved how much she did during the day. This comeback seemed much too rational as The Number Cruncher was unable to find a sufficient argument to throw back at Ms. Cauliflower Ear.

You see, Bill, it's a woman thing. We are capable of doing two things at one time. Cindy personally feels Bill has way too much free time on his hands if he can fiddle away the morning checking her phone time and she has a plan to utilize all that surplus free time he has. She knows darn well she has been put on notice and she is really going to try to cut down her phone time in December.

She will hopefully drop her fourth quarter average well below the satisfactory level set up by Mr. Bill Examiner. So here's Cindy's plan: if she needs to talk to you, she will call, let the phone ring once, then hang up. That's your signal to call her back. This way her minutes won't add up and hubby will think she's the ever obedient wife they all dream of.

Oakland's breakfast

Oakland Grade School will be sponsoring a Craft Fair/Pancake Breakfast with Santa on Dec. 2, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. From 8 to 11 a.m. you will be able to fill your bellies with some of Mr. Jim-the-Principal Lienhardt's famous pancakes. After 11 a.m. you may feast on hot dogs and pizza, gee I wonder where the pizza is coming from?

The PTO is planning a day long family event which will include Pictures with Santa, a Santa's Secret Shoppe set up for kids 12 years old and under (moms and dads watch out for those treasures under that tree Christmas morning), and craft booths with a variety of fun and festive items to buy. Tickets will be available at the door. Oakland Grade School is located at the corner of Grass Lake Road and Deep Lake Road.

Happy, happy

Once again the Pringle clan has some birthday celebrations ahead of us. My dad, Norm Schreiber, celebrates his birthday this month. Daddy is not quite a quarter of a century old, but he's pretty darn close. My sister, Cindy Ladin, also celebrates her birthday on the 23rd. All my life I have lived with her whining about how her birthday was a farce because my mom, who hated birthday celebrations about as much as she hated dogs, never made a big splash over Cindy's birthday.

On Dec. 23, mom would simply point to the Christmas tree and tell Cindy to pick out any one of her gifts and open it up. Cindy fails to remember the drool on our faces and the envy in our eyes as she got to open one of her presents two days before Christmas. How quickly ye middle child forgets that torture. So if any of you see my sister on or around her birthday, gush big time and make her feel special.

A very "Happy Birthday" to all you who share this special month with that famous baby Jesus. I often wonder how his mom ever narrowed down his birthday guest list. I mean the child knew everyone, so how does one decide who to invite and who not to? Hopefully, your celebration won't be so complicated.

Happy, happy to: Kenny Adelizzi, Linda Boerman, Mary Boerman, Marie Brausam, Amber Dunfrund, Debbie Foerster, Lauren Foerster, Angie Fragassi, Jeremy Gardien, Amanda Gillies, John Gollon, Brandon Lang, Christian Lang, Brian Miller, Tricia Olenick, Brad Priller, A.J. Rossi, Doris Sainson, Missy Schopen, Flip Smerz, and Benjamin Stilke.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Views On Dental Health

By Brian Gniadek, D.D.S.

CHILD'S FIRST DENTAL VISIT

A child going to the dentist for the first time is often a handful of anxieties. Any dentist using the right techniques can transform the most terrified child into a cooperative patient who is no longer afraid - a child who will leave the office with a smile on his face.

The first thing a dentist must do is convince the child of his honesty. Children are smart. They are not easily fooled. If a youngster is promised that a particular thing will be done, the dentist had better be sure he does it.

Usually, the dentist begins with something easy. He says, "Today I am going to count your teeth." and, after that, come what may, he must count the teeth, using whatever means necessary.

Remember this: The child often cries before anything is done to him (even a first haircut). He is not hurt, and the dentist has to prove that he can be trusted to do exactly what he says he is going to do - no more, no less. The noise and hysterics generally disappear after the first visit. If the dentist establishes his reliability and that he is trustworthy, there will rarely be any more trouble.

Police: Prevention can deter some burglars

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

A second wave of burglaries downtown seems to indicate that even Antioch is vulnerable to the sinister hand of a thief.

But Antioch Deputy Chief Charles Watkins believes greater preventive actions can make life more difficult for a thief and easier for the local police department.

In October, J.J. Blinkers and Luigi's Restaurant were burglarized. A month later, Brans Nuts, The Tulip Patch and SonShine Books Inc. were hit in the same way on the same night Nov. 17. In all cases, the thief or thieves gained entry by destroying a backdoor or an alleyway door. Cash was taken from registers, and the thief departed without ransacking the businesses.

A number of other burglaries have also occurred in the outlying areas in Antioch Township, and the Lake County Sheriff's Department is investigating those crimes. Watkins does not believe the township and downtown burglaries are related.

Watkins said business owners can exercise a number of common sense actions such as locking doors with dead bolt locks, leaving the lights on, and keeping only a small amount of cash in the register.

Strong locks, Watkins said, make it difficult for a thief to enter a business.

"The ones we catch are the ones who have a hard time getting in," Watkins said. "They have to expose themselves out in the open longer and make more noise to get in."

Lighting allows strolling police officers to see in businesses. Having the lights on also serve as a hint to officers if the lights are suddenly off, Watkins said.

"Thieves have a tendency to turn lights off," Watkins noted.

He also said leaving some cash—but not more than $25—in a register can be a good thing. "Usually, they just want to grab the cash and get out. They might trash the place looking for a safe or something if there is no cash in the register," Watkins said.

He also encouraged business owners and employees to be cognizant of those who seem to be browsing through a business but do not buy anything.

"They're checking the place out. They want to know what they have to do to get inside the place. They can't do that from the outside of the building," Watkins said.

He noted that these tips may not prevent all burglary attempts, but it does make it more difficult for the would-be thief, he said.

"Preventative measures, more often than not, is the key," Watkins said.

Antioch Explorers (Post 15) earned public kudos from Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shinoe for their community service. Accepting the honor were assistant advisor Cameron Marz, advisor and detective Craig Somerville, Richard Anderson, Craig Somerville Jr., and Dawn DeSeri with Shinoe.

Honored

Somerville said the Explorer program provides training scenarios similar to what police officers experience at the police academy.

The Explorers also assist with parade details, traffic controls and security during special events, but Somerville said the Explorers do not respond to calls with sworn officers.

"They are not officers, but they are kids who are focusing on criminal justice as a career," Somerville pointed out.

He said the Explorers attend monthly meetings to gain instruction in police-related scenarios. Somerville said the program emphasizes communication and safety as its main goals.

"If they do decide to go to the police academy, they have a solid background to tap into," Somerville said. "They see the good; they see the bad; they see the other side of police work."

The Explorers also compete against other Explorer posts in a statewide skills competition. Last year, the Antioch post took home a trophy in felony stops.

Somerville said young adults interested in becoming an Explorer should call him at the Antioch Police Department at 395-8585, ext. 114.

"We are always actively recruiting," Somerville said, "but they have to be people who are trustworthy."

comfortable," said one store owner who asked not to be identified. "I'm originally from Chicago. Antioch is still a very safe place to live."

This business owner was one of the first businesses hit by the string of burglaries. A new steel door has since been installed.

Communication between business owners and the police department is key to spreading awareness about crime and keeping watchful of suspicious people, the owner said. "Let's keep our guard up."

Actually taking preventive measures depends on the respective business owner. One owner knew of the first wave of burglaries, but did not follow through with prevention until it was too late.

"I was aware of the other break-ins, but I didn't do anything about it until I was hit and they destroyed the door," said a business owner who asked not to be identified and who was robbed Nov. 17. "I guess I lived and learned the hard way."

A new steel door is now in place of the wooden door in the alleyway exit.

This business owner also stressed the need for businesses to keep an open line of communication with the police.

"The police can't do anything if we don't talk to them," the owner said.

A second business owner who was burglarized Nov. 17 also learned the importance of keeping doors locked, lights on and as little cash in the store as possible.

"Now we make sure everything is locked up and keep the lights on so people can see in," the owner said.

The owner also praised the efforts of the police department for responding to the burglaries immediately and pursuing the case with almost daily follow-ups.

"They're really hot on the trail to catch these Bozos," the owner said. "Sooner or later, they'll catch them. We have high expectations of the police."

Antioch (UHAUA). "We've worked on this for over a year and it's finally coming to a close."

Jonites noted Bill Liniewicz is the chair of UHAUA's sewer study committee and County Board representative Judy Martini has been instrumental in pushing the sewer study along.

The plan to study the possibility of sewer service in unincorporated Antioch sprung out of UHAUA meetings. According to Jonites, sewer service is one of the primary concerns of residents in unincorporated Antioch. It is believed sewer service would be a boon to water quality in the area.

The sewer feasibility study would determine the costs of extending sewer service to unincorporated Antioch. After a study is completed, the county could begin forming the mechanism for forming a special service district for sewer.

Jonites is urging residents of Antioch Township to attend the County Board meeting on Dec. 12 at 9 a.m. and show support for the sewer study. For information call Jonites at 395-7351.

Outcome Based Education controversy making waves

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor In Chief

The implementation of Goals 2000 and Outcome Based Education (OBE) in classrooms is grabbing headlines and political attention throughout the nation. Critics of the concept say it works to remove local control from school curriculum issues while proponents argue it works toward educational equality by basing curriculum principles on success for all.

The Illinois Conference on Outcome Based Education sponsored by American News and Views, a Saturday morning radio program on WYLL-FM of Elk Grove and the Family Education Foundation, will serve as a clearing house for information on OBE and its implementation in the classroom. The conference is slated for Dec. 9 from 1

Illinois Conference to educate public on issue

- 4:30 p.m. in Arlington Heights.

Outcome Based Education, in its pure theory, calls for a complete change in the way children are taught, graded and graduated.

The Illinois Conference will focus on OBE at the federal and state level and will include a panel discussion on "OBE and your community." Featured speakers include Peg Luksik, a national figure in educational issues, who led the grassroots coalition of 22,000 people that succeeded in getting a bill through the Pennsylvania House of Representatives which empowered localities to ignore the state Board of Education's OBE plan.

Others speaking at the conference will be State Rep. Al Salvi (R-52nd) who is running for the U.S. Senate, and Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th). Both Republicans have spoken out against Goals 2000 and the U.S. Department of Education.

"We decided to sponsor this forum because we have heard from so many parents and teachers who are upset with the growing popularity of OBE," said Ken Barker, host of American News and Views. "This is really becoming a issue in school districts around the state and people want more information about it."

Barker hopes the program will prompt parents to get more involved in their children's education and to learn about the provisions of Goals 2000 and how it is being implemented in Illinois.

"Parents need to look deeper at their school systems and at what established learning outcomes are for their children's classrooms," said Barker. "Different terms are See OBE page B2

Dem Chairman to seek state senate seat

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

Lake County Democratic Chairman Terry Link and former County elections administrator Mary Ellen Vanderventer lead the list of party members running in the March primary.

Link is seeking the Dist. 30 senate seat being vacated by retired Republican David Barkhausen.

Vanderventer is seeking the office of Recorder of Deeds being vacated by the retiring Frank Nustra.

Link said his candidacy is the culmination of a two year consideration.

"I am a life long resident of Lake County and the 30th district and I think its time we get someone in there who has seen the problems around here," he said.

Link said he wants to focus on government reform but not at the expense of children, elderly and the less fortunate. One of the main reforms he spoke of was the current state education funding process which he feels is inadequate.

"The educational district has gone from one of the best to one of the worst in county and crime has gotten so bad people are afraid to leave their houses at night," Link stressed.

He said that these problems are attributable to government and elected officials needing to become more accountable to their constituents and not to special interests.

The decision of whether he will remain chairperson of the Lake County Democratic party will be made in March when his term is up according to Link.

Vanderventer, said for the last seven months she has worked out of the public sector she has really missed it. Link Vanderventer worked in the county clerk's office for 10 years until being fired by County Clerk Willard Helander earlier this year. Helander was elected in November 1994.

Central Committee gives Kustra nod over Salvi

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor In Chief

The race is on in the GOP primary.

With the Lake County Central Committee Endorsements on the table, candidates are now armed for the campaign trail.

"I was disappointed, I expected to get the endorsement," Salvi said. "I felt the majority of the committee supported me so I believe there were some back room deals made. I've never been a backroom politician."

House Majority Leader Bob Churchill of Lake Villa endorsed Kustra early on in the campaign. Breaking with the Lake County Republican Party leaders Chairman John Schullen has lent his support to Salvi since the state representative announced his bid for the Senate.

"I was clearly personally disappointed (about Salvi)," Schullen said. "Both would be excellent candidates. I believe Salvi would be a better one but the central committee did not agree."

"I will continue my campaign," Salvi said. "I'm even more excited about winning March 19, we have supporters in every county in the state and more than three times the required petition signatures needed. We are going to win."

"I am grateful to have the support of Republicans in Lake County and throughout Illinois," said Kustra. "I also want to thank members of the Central Committee for their willingness to become a part of our team to put a Republican voice from Illinois in the U.S. Senate."

The central committee also gave veteran Congressman John Porter the endorsement over challenger Richard Rinaolo. Rinaolo, a Lake Forest businessman, claimed victory in the process because Porter was not endorsed on the first ballot.

In the state senate races, Thomas Lachner received the endorsement for the 30th district and Adeline J. Geo-Karis for the 31st district.

The death of two Warren Township High School students may revive efforts to have a concrete median on Route 41.

Carrie Rockwell, age 16, of Gurnee and her passenger, Joseph Kordas, 15, of Wadsworth died Nov. 24 when their Toyota Celica crossed a grassy median on Route 41 near Stearns School Road.

"We have had a number of accidents there. The first phase of a barrier wall was constructed from Wadsworth Road to Route 173 in Newport Fire Department's district. We are asking for a barrier from Wadsworth Road to Route 132," Gurnee Fire Chief Tim McGrath said.

"When cars go off the road into the ditch, nothing good can happen," he said.

Often times, the vehicles become airborne, striking the vehicle in the opposite lane head-on, according to McGrath. A concrete median would prevent the vehicle from crossing into the opposite lanes.

The Toyota driven by Rockwell crossed the grassy median and struck a van. The driver of the van was airlifted by Flight for Life helicopter to John Doyne Hospital in Milwaukee. Merry Dippold, 46, was listed in satisfactory condition on Tuesday.

Her two passengers were transported to St. Therese Medical Center. A driver of a second vehicle struck in the incident, a truck driver, was not injured.

Why Rockwell crossed the median remain under investigation along with other factors.

"It would only be a guess if they were speeding. But speeds would lend themselves to that type of crash. Any one life that is lost is too many. Having those young lives taken away - they cannot be replaced," Gurnee Police Chief Robert Jones said.

A second accident occurred on Stearns School Road when a driver attempted to avoid the traffic jam. A 41-year-old was transported to St. Therese Medical Center.

McGrath said he has met with Illinois Department of Transportation engineers and gave one a tour of the site.

Jones said that would be an IDOT matter. State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) worked to get the first phase of the concrete median installed.

OBE

used for the concept and we hope to educate people as to how to determine if OBE is being used in their school systems."

Karen Hayes, the Illinois Representative to Concerned Women for America (CWA), will give a presentation on OBE in Illinois.

"For parents to identify the use of OBE, they need to obtain a copy of the outcomes and benchmarks for their school," said Hayes. "The basic concept of OBE calls for the phasing out a grading system and the concept that all students must master all outcomes for the class to move on."

'Because it tries to create an equal result. It is the same concept that has failed with welfare.'

—Karen Hayes

According to Hayes, parents will find the outcomes and classroom goals to contain very vague wording and often times curriculum will have more of a world-view to it. For instance in one DuPage County School system, the pledge of allegiance has been replaced by the world pledge.

"It is a system that hinders teachers and students," Hayes said. "Because it tries to create an equal result. It is the same concept that has failed with welfare."

Throughout the state, the concepts of Goals 2000 are being implemented through the adoption of school improvement programs.

According to Assistant Regional Superintendent

Roycealee J. Wood each school in Lake County is in the process of preparing such plans. "Each school has to prepare their own plan as part of the state school improvement and recognition program," Wood said. "All schools are different and all plans are different. Curriculum is controlled by the local school board." Tickets are available in advance for $6 and $8 at the door. The event will be held at the Christian Liberty Academy, Grace Auditorium, 502 Euclid Ave., in Arlington Heights. For more information call Barker at 808-7469.

were endorsed: Verna Clayton in the 51st district, Mark Beaubien in the 52nd district, Beth Coulson in the 57th district, Corinne G. Wood in the 59th district, Joel Gingiss in the 60th, Andrea Moore in the 61st district and Robert W. Churchill in the 62nd district.

Newcomer Pat McCloskey received the endorsement over incumbent Larry Leafbald for County Board Dist. 6.

"I think that was a case where the committeemen felt they would like to see more broad representation geographically," Lake County Chairman John Schullen said. "It was a surprise."

Newcomer Michelle Wolf also received the endorsement over incumbent Suzi Schmidt who has never received the party's endorsement.

In another surprise, incumbent County Board Member Mary Beattie was found qualified along with challenger Mark Shaw for the Dist. 16 seat.

"Mary was fairly close to an endorsement," Schullen said. "Again, both are qualified."

In other county board races the following were endorsed: James LaBelle (Dist. 4), Edward Fojtik (Dist. 5), Robert Depke (Dist. 7), Henry "Jeff" Jeffers (Dist. 9), Dick Raftis (Dist. 11), Christopher Wakefield (Dist. 12), John Schullen (Dist. 13), Stevenson Mountsler (Dist. 17), Robert Grever (Dist. 19), David Stolman (Dist. 20), Martha Marks (Dist. 21), Deloris Axelrod (Dist. 22) and Martin Janzen (Dist. 23).

In the 19th Judicial Circuit Court Seat A, both Wallace Dunn and Jane Drew Waller were found qualified. For seat B, Thomas Schermerhorn was endorsed.

Lake County States Attorney Michael Waller, Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson and Lake County Clerk of the Circuit Court Sally Coffelt were all endorsed.

"My decision to run was very easy. My instincts told me the time is right. I love working for the public and it's what I do best. I have a proven record of managing details and paying attention to details is very important in this job," Vanderventer stressed about the office.

Phil Torf an attorney practicing pharmaceutical law from Northbrook announced his candidacy for the 10th Congressional district currently held by Rep. John Porter.

Torf said his daughter posed the question to him of why he was running as a Democrat.

"I told my daughter that the Republicans are always interested in money and the Democrats put together sound social environmental and business issues that represent progress for people," he said.

Torf believes the Republican domination of Congress and lack of vision have undermined the American dream. He wants to reform government without sacrificing those dreams.

Ron Molinaro of Zion is running for state representative in the 62nd district. Molinaro co-owns Sure Start, an automotive repair shop, along with his father. He said the birth of his son prompted him to become involved.

"My son was born prematurely in 1989 and at the time I lost my insurance. When I approached the state for help I was turned away. I hope to have an opportunity to promote change and help people in similar situations," Molinaro said of his motivation to run.

Announced County Board candidates include incumbents Angelo Kyle of the 12th district, Carol Spielman of the 22nd district, Robert Buhai for the 23rd district, Deborah Halas for the 9th district and non-incumbent Robert Boness for the 6th.

Incumbent Lauren Beth Gash is seeking to retain her seat in the 60th district for state representative.

Link explained that there will be more announcements to come.

"We're not formally endorsing candidates, we are announcing them. I can't promise there will be candidates in every office but neither can Republicans," Link expressed.

Housewalk tickets on sale

MUNDELEIN—Organizers are putting the finishing touches on the second annual Holiday Housewalk, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

Dec. 3 at the Mundelein Senior Center. One of the homes will feature "the sounds, sights, smells and tastes" of a Mexican Christmas celebration. Five other houses on the tour will offer a variety of Christmas inspiration, with refreshments and entertainment at each stop.

Homes will be open from 3 to 7 p.m. Tickets are $6 at the door and $5 in advance at several village locations. For information on where to pick them up, call 949-9028. All proceeds will benefit Project C.A.P.E. (Creating a Positive Environment), a not-for-profit community organization.

Boil order signs to go up

FOX LAKE—Village procedure on boil order signs has changed following complaints which arose after a water main broke in Fox Lake. Trustee Jim Segin said "A main broke and there was some inconvenience to various businesses and the village apologizes." Segin said various radio stations were contacted about the boil order enforcement when the main broke Nov. 16, but signs were not up. From now on "we will hang out boil order signs," said Segin. The village had some complaints about the lack of signs.

Wrong-way driver gets prison

WAUKEGAN—Linda Common received a five-year prison sentence for her role in the June 27 accident which led to the death of a Wisconsin man. Paul Steiger of Franklin, Wis. died June 27 after suffering multiple trauma after the head-on crash on I-94 near Gurnee. Common was accused of driving south in the north-bound lane. She had a .23 blood alcohol level at the time of the crash and was also charged with possession of marijuana. The sentence was handed down by Judge Ray McKoski, Nov. 22.

Teachers' contract approved

LIBERTYVILLE—The Libertyville High School teachers union and District 128 Board of Education have both approved the contract agreement they tentatively approved on Nov. 9. The new contract is a three year agreement retroactive from July 1, which is the date the former contract expired. The contract calls for a total economic package including salary, insurance, extracurricular activities and longevity payments over three years. The salary increases will total 13.375 percent over three years. Teachers with the most seniority in the district will receive three percent increases each year of the contract providing raises approximating the cost of living.

Chamber changes name

LINDENHURST—The Lindenhurst Chamber of Commerce is history. It is now the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce after two-thirds of the membership unanimously approved the name change. With the influx of Lake Villa and unincorporated Lake Villa Township members joining, the membership voted to include the Lake Villa name. At a special meeting in September, the chamber offered to have a name change if enough Lake Villa members joined. Since that time, 30 new members, most from the Lake Villa and unincorporated areas, came on board.

Votes unchanged after recount

LONG GROVE—A recount of votes cast in the Kildeer Countryside School District 96 school board race showed no errors were committed, said a Lake County elections official. "There was nothing definitive," said Edna Schade, Lake County deputy clerk in the elections division. The recount was requested by Connie Rogers, a 16-year Dist. 96 board veteran from Buffalo Grove. She lost her re-election bid by one vote to Mara Waxman Marzano, a first-time challenger from Long Grove. Both Women were present at the recount held Nov. 22 at the Lake County Clerk's Office in Waukegan, along with their attorney's, the Dist. 96 canvass board, Lake County elections officials. Marzano received 1,319 votes, to Rogers' total of 1,318.

Christmas Scenes '95 set

WAUCONDA—Christmas Scenes '95 is a place made for Christmas lovers, with 20 trees decorated with a different motif and originality. Located on the second floor of the Citizen's Activity Center, 100 N. Main St., the trees and Christmas scenes have been decorated by residents near and far in order to benefit the needy members of the Wauconda area, said Judy Eschenbach, scenes co-founder. The scenes will be open for one more weekend, from 6 to 9 p.m. Dec. 1 and from noon to 5 p.m. Dec. 2. A minimum donation of $1 per person is requested, with all proceeds going to Lake County Pads, the Wauconda-Island Lake Food Pantry and the Wauconda Township Needy Christmas Program.

Police honored as elite force

VERNON HILLS—The Vernon Hills Police Department became the first law enforcement agency located entirely in Lake County to officially receive accreditation status from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies. Out of 36 law enforcement agencies in Lake County, the Vernon Hills department is the only one accredited. Furthermore, out of 700 agencies in the state, Vernon Hills joins an elite 30 departments that are accredited. Out of more than 13,000 agencies nationwide, Vernon Hills marks the 375th to be honored with accreditation. The Vernon Hills department met 98 percent of the 436 standards a team of national accreditation assessors evaluated. Eighty percent is the bare minimum to be accredited.

Toys for tots collection set

Lake County residents are urged to brighten the holidays for less fortunate children by bringing toys to one of three Lake County Forest Preserve Toys for Tots drop off sites until Monday, Dec. 18.

This year, toys can be dropped off at one of three Lake County Forest Preserve locations: the Forest Preserve General Offices at 2000 North Milwaukee Avenue, Libertyville; the Lake County Museum located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Route 176, west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda; and Ryerson Woods located on Riverwoods Road, south of Route 22 near Deerfield. Toys should be new and unwrapped. For more information call the Lake County Forest Preserves at 367-6640.

Zoning overhaul should be pushed

There is widespread agreement on the Lake County Board, even among the tightly-knit bloc recognized for advocating aggressive growth and development, that the county's zoning ordinances governing land use in unincorporated areas is an outmoded document.

No less a figure than Rep. Richard "Dick" Raftis (R-Wildwood), chairman of the influential Planning, Building and Zoning Committee, says zoning laws compiled in an inch-thick manual, must be overhauled. Raftis stated, "We've got to change 'the book,'" as the document is known amongst County Board members and staff personnel who deal with zoning and building on a day-to-day basis. County zoning ordinances last were changed in 1987.

Lake County's rapid transformation in the last decade from basically a rural-suburban territory to an urban area, has rendered current zoning woefully inadequate. The "book" is totally out of sync with the Framework Plan that constitutes long-range land planning.

Raftis has sketched alterations based on the concept of "performance zoning" as compared to conventional zoning. An example of performance based zoning were the agreements worked out in the bitter W.W. Grainger battle with the Village of Mettawa where the company turned over a portion of land to the Lake County Forest Preserve District for the right to build a corporate campus in what was space zoned for residential use.

The committee chairman, who is the acknowledged zoning expert on the County Board, is taking the somewhat surprising position that the new zoning document should recognize open space and conservation needs. At the same time Raftis is calling for more flexibility in dealing with what he termed "development pressures."

While it is understandable that modernization of zoning rules and regulations can't be accomplished overnight, Raftis has drawn a troubling time line for implementing revisions. Considering the amount of time necessary for staff study and public input, the new ordinance might not be ready for implementation until 1997. There is justification to the argument that by that time the new document might be moot, considering the rapid pace of growth and development.

Isn't it possible to fast-track the overhaul process? In our mind, one of the most troubling parts of the current county ordinance is the S suburban classification, a catch-all category that for all intensive purposes provides for "blank check" development. Some of the county's most knotty zoning problems—the controversy over Good Shepherd Hospital's expansion is an excellent example—derived from "suburban" zoning. Elimination of the S class would go a long way toward bringing county zoning into the 1990's.

While Raftis and fellow members of the growth bloc appear headed in the right direction for necessary zoning revisions, they also will be under considerable political pressure to bring about change. Any heel dragging on their part will play into the argument that they are comfortable with the current deficient zoning document. Dealing with that question is certain to cause more trouble than County Board members have been encountering with the outdated ordinance.

Raftis and the growth bloc can avoid accusations of playing politics with zoning by pushing hard for updating county zoning ordinances—now.

Safe Place help brightens Yule

At a time of year when giving takes precedence over getting, A Safe Place—Lake County Crisis Center—rates high on the list of the deserving.

For 15 years, the Waukegan-based agency with support groups in Vernon Hills, Round Lake and Deerfield has been providing shelter, counseling and support for battered women, their children and the men in their lives.

A Safe Place is accepting donations of small, but essential items needed at the shelter. Gift suggestions for the victims of abuse bespeak of the every-day things that loom large at times when help is needed most—gift certificates for fast food places and movies, nonperishable food and snacks, nighttime clothing, undergarments, personal care products, and shelter supplies like hand soap and laundry detergent. It's heart-rending to know how little it takes to brighten the day of a battered woman.

A Safe Place Executive Director Phyllis A. DeMott used the O.J. Simpson verdict to put abuse into focus. It would be devastating if any battered woman concluded from Simpson's acquittal that there is no help for them and no justice for their batterers.

"We all have to hold batterers accountable from the first sign of abuse and support domestic violence victims when they reach out for help," DeMott declared.

Besides accepting in-kind donations, the shelter can make arrangements for the adoption of a family for the holidays. Call (708) 249-5147 to find out how you can help.

Commander in chief removed from pack

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

By committing 20,000 American troops to enforce the peace in Bosnia, President Bill Clinton has put himself in the strongest possible position to win reelection.

Clinton the consummate political strategist and campaigner par excellence is falling back on the time-honored strategy of maximizing his role as commander in chief for political leverage.

As FDR before him in 1940, John Kennedy in 1960 and George Bush in 1991, Clinton is planning on the nation rallying behind the commander in chief when Americans in uniform are put in harm's way.

Clinton obviously knows his history, even though he has never been lauded as a historian. The facts are that the strategy for salvaging a struggling or failing presidency works without fail. FDR won a third term. Kennedy utilized mobilization to counteract growing unpopularity. Bush sent troops to the Persian Gulf too soon, but he got a tremendous boost in popularity. Clinton doesn't plan on making that mistake. He knows that in politics timing is everything.

There will be 20,000 GI's charged with ending the bloodshed in the Balkans. But that doesn't count all the sailors, airmen and marines who also will be moved to the Mediterranean in support roles. Another massive deployment of American forces could be in the making.

Whom ever the Republicans nominate will be unskilled in foreign diplomacy, a deadly campaign deficiency when Americans will be focused on the safety of their sons and daughters. Maybe Gen. Powell had the president's strategy in mind when he backed off from seeking the GOP nomination.

WONDER DIET—A healthy plate of crow isn't all that bad if it's doused with purple sauce and there's a bouquet of roses on the side.

With Northwestern unbelievably headed for the Rose Bowl, I've been reminded more than once the past several weeks of an intemperate comment made at the time Penn State was voted admission to the Big 10. There was consternation about whether the conference should be renamed the Big 11.

Not to worry, I dashed off in a paragraph. Even with an expanded conference, as long as Northwestern still was in the league the Big 10 still would be the Big 10. NU alums and purple loyalists in these parts came to Northwestern's rescue, royally berating this smarty pants columnist.

It's taken four or five years, but now I know the flavor of a crow feast. The band of hardy student athletes belongs, not only in the Big 10, but in a collegiate football system badly in need of a fresh breeze. The gridiron winds blowing across the North Shore are sweet and invigorating. Jan. 1 prediction: NU 27, Southern Cal 17.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—John twisted his face into an imitation of Scrooge and Erika froze as they were thrust forward to get acquainted with Santa and Mrs. Claus at the fervent urging of their parents and dotting grandparents. Kids don't get into the "Santa thing" until they're about age four, we were told. The two cousins didn't relax until safely in their dads' arms where they felt confident to brandish a hand when St. Nick called out, "Give me a high five."

Contact lens information at your fingertips

The Contact Lens Council (CLC) has announced a new toll-free 800 consumer information line and Internet address. Current lens wearers and those considering contacts can now call 1-800-884-4-CLC to receive up-to-date information on today's contact lenses, including health and safety guidelines, and tips on proper contact lens wear and care.

"More than half of all Americans require some type of vision correction," said Orlando Rodrigues, chairman of the CLC. "Of those, almost 26 million people have chosen to wear contact lenses."

Today, there are a variety of contact lens options for consumers to choose from to meet their vision and lifestyle needs. CLC's new information line, 1-800-884-4-CLC, is designed to give consumers access to the latest information on advances in contact lenses and eye care. "With so many improvements in contact lenses and lens care products, there has never been a better time to consider the benefits of contact lenses," said Rodrigues.

Callers to the CLC information line can receive information about contact lenses, as well as specialized materials designed to answer frequently asked questions about presbyopia, a natural aging of the eye, orthokeratology, a treatment process that uses contact lenses to reduce or correct some refractive errors; and refractive surgery, a relatively new procedure involving surgery on the eye to correct refractive errors.

For instance, people 40 years and over who think that they have no alternatives to bifocal glasses will be pleasantly surprised to find that contact lenses may provide several correction options—safely and comfortably.

The 1-800-884-4-CLC number is a consumer service of the Contact Lens Council, a non-profit organization which serves as an educational resource on vision correction. CLC's information line operates weekdays between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Eastern Time.

The materials may also be accessed via the CLC Home Page on the Internet World Wide Web at: <http://www.tiac.net/users/igc/clc.html>.

The CLC is devoted to promoting the safe use of contact lenses and is sponsored by Alcon Laboratories, Allergan Optical, Bausch and Lomb, CIBA Vision, Pilkington Barnes Hind, Vistakon, a division of Johnson and Johnson Vision Products, Inc., WesleyJessen, and the Contact Lens Manufacturers Association. The American Optometric Association, Contact Lens Assn. of Ophthalmologists, and the Contact Lens Society of America are advisory members of the CLC.

Sound advice on how to survive the holidays

Jane loves turkey but hates Thanksgiving dinner. She loves her family but hates the questions:

"Have you gained weight?"

"Why don't you visit us more often?"

"When are you having another child?"

Jane never feels like she measures up—she just doesn't do it right. She becomes the family project.

Lucy is the babysitter at every holiday function. She was assigned that role because she is the youngest adult. She is the "kid sister," obediently doing chores she dislikes despite her age and interests. Lucy is 32 and child-free by choice.

Aunt Hally works to keep everyone happy. She hands out compliments, cocktails and advice. Hally's energy is unfailing. She feels like a responsible hostess even when it's not her party.

How can you derive pleasure even though there are aspects of family togetherness that illicit painful feelings? What we're talking about is holiday survival. Here are some tips.

First, separate the past from the present. Yesterday you were a child and today you are an adult. Something odd happens when we get together with our family, especially our parents. We regress. A 40-year-old accomplished executive can turn into an insecure, acne-faced teenager who needs direction setting a table. Work to be your adult self. This may require building new family traditions.

Second, establish your boundaries. Let those in your family know which topics are off limits. You have a right to say "no" respectfully and honestly. It is your responsibility to set new limits. In this way you teach people how you would like to be treated. Introducing neutral topics up for discussion, like work, effectively steer people away from sensitive issues.

Have realistic expectations. The families on television commercials are not real. Don't expect your 3-year-old son to sit still in a velvet suit while the family portrait is painted. Commercials sell products by projecting an ideal image. In normal life, Tommy will tease Amy, Aunt Ruth will refuse to eat the stuffed mushrooms, and Dad will tell silly jokes. But, this is your family. Try to enjoy them for who they are.

Lastly, the holidays can be tremendously stressful. Plan ahead to get adequate rest. Moderate alcohol and food consumption. Stay in tune with your emotions. Deal with boredom, anxiety and sadness by talking to a friend, going for a walk or relaxing. If you prioritize your health and well-being, the holidays can truly be enjoyable.

Also, try and put things in perspective by developing a sense of humor. An embarrassing Christmas mishap can become an entertaining story for next year's dinner.

Lastly, take time to tell your family and friends of their importance to you, in a sincere, meaningful way; they need to hear it.

Cancer Society's Honor Gift supports research

As the holiday season approaches, the American Cancer Society's Honor Gift program is a perfect way to recognize friends, business associates and loved ones by making a donation on their behalf to the American Cancer Society.

When an Honor Gift is donated, a special card is sent to inform the honoree that a gift has been given in his or her name to the American Cancer Society. An acknowledgment card and receipt are sent to the donor.

"Many companies have chosen the Honor Gift for employees and customers in place of material gifts that may never be used," Mike Keesey said. Keesey is the American Cancer Society, Lake County Unit, Income Development chairman. "Recipients are pleased to know that the gift could help save lives and further support cancer research and education programs," Keesey said. The Lake County Unit will gladly hand address and send the cards if requested.

For further information, call the American Cancer Society, Lake County Unit, at 336-9293 and ask for Lisa Tapper.

Good Shepherd hosts holiday memorial service for parents

The holiday season can be a difficult time for parents who have recently experienced the loss of a baby. Good Shepherd Hospital, Barrington, will host its annual RTS Holiday Candlelight Memorial Service at 7 p.m., Monday, Dec. 4 in the hospital's chapel. This candle-lighting service is non-denominational and is designed to celebrate the memory of babies lost either through miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth or newborn death.

The service is free and is open to anyone who has experienced the loss of a baby.

The RTS (Resolve Through Sharing) Bereavement grief support group, is sponsored by Good Shepherd Hospital's Birth Center. The group meets the first Monday of each month from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the hospital.

For more information about the memorial service or the RTS support group, call Good Shepherd Hospital's RTS Bereavement Coordinator at 381-0123, ext. 5520.

Researchers develop ulcer test

Abbott Laboratories and SmithKline Diagnostics, Inc., a subsidiary of Beckman Instruments, Inc., (NYSE:BEC) announced they have reached a multi-year agreement on a rapid, office based test designed to aid in the detection of H. pylori infection. Under terms of the agreement, SmithKline Diagnostics will manufacture the test and Abbott will distribute and sell it in the United States and most other countries. Specific terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

According to a National Institutes of Health Consensus Statement issued in February 1994 there is now evidence to indicate that H. pylori infection is casually related to the development of peptic ulcer disease, and that persistent infection accounts for high rates of ulcer recurrence.

"This test is very easy to use and will provide physicians and patients with a quick and accurate diagnosis," said Miles D. White, senior vice president of Abbott's diagnostic operations. "This is a great opportunity for the diagnostics division and an excellent strategic fit for Abbott's increasing number of opportunities related to peptic ulcer disease."

John P. Wareham, president and chief operating officer of Beckman said, "studies show that H. pylori testing can provide significant benefits for patients while lowering health care costs. Under this agreement, our combined worldwide marketing will accelerate physician acceptance and use of this unique test."

The test uses a patient's serum to detect antibodies to H. pylori. Other features of the product, to be sold by Abbott under the name FlexPack H®, include a simple, three-step procedure, and results delivered in under five minutes. Other forms of testing for H. pylori, such as endoscopic biopsy and the urea breath test, are significantly more expensive and time consuming.

Abbott's leading macrolide antibiotic, clarithromycin, is marketed for the treatment of H. pylori infection in several countries outside the U.S., including countries in Europe, Asia and Latin America. Approval of this indication is pending in 20 other countries, including the U.S. In May, TAP Holdings Inc., Abbott's joint venture with Takeda Chemical Ind. of Japan, received clearance from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to market Prevacid (lansoprazole), a proton pump inhibitor for short-term treatment for healing and symptom relief of erosive esophagitis and active duodenal ulcers.

Victory Hospital Foundation supports HealthReach

The Victory Hospital Foundation presented Dr. Richard Keller, president of the HealthReach Clinic Board of Directors; and Daniel Rodriguez, executive director of HealthReach Clinic; with a check for $12,800 in support of the clinic's services. The donation represented proceeds from the foundation's 1995 Chef Cuisine Benefit, held on Sept. 17.

HealthReach Clinic was established in 1992. Since then, the Victory Hospital Foundation has raised $99,200 in support of the clinic's efforts to provide healthcare services to Lake County's homeless; working poor, immigrants and the disabled.

HealthReach is more than a single, free medical clinic located in 1,800 square feet of space leased from the Barwell Settlement on Waukegan's southeast side. It is community volunteers working together to provide a complete spectrum of healthcare services. Physicians, physician assistants, nurses, and clerical personnel donate their time and skills to care for patients. Pharmaceutical companies donate medication. Local pharmacies fill prescriptions for medications not available at the clinic at no cost to clinic users. Area hospitals provide free care on a rotation basis to patients referred from the clinic. The clinic's goal is to go beyond the role of an individual healthcare provider by linking with others, such as the county health department or a community hospital to provide a full continuum of healthcare services.

The clinic is funded by the community. Organizations like the Victory Hospital Foundation, the United Way of Lake County, local corporations and government bodies contribute to meet its operating budget. The clinic receives the support of the Lake County Medical Society, whose members serve as HealthReach volunteer physicians.

HealthReach Clinic is located at 201 Liberty Street, Waukegan. The staff sees patients 25 hours each week, with office hours on Monday, Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday. For information and appointments, call 360-8800.

Hospice offers help, hope

The Hospice of Northeastern Illinois is proud to celebrate November as National Hospice month. Hospice services are provided by an interdisciplinary team of health care professionals and volunteers. Members of the team include physicians, registered nurses, home health aides, social workers, bereavement counselors, chaplains and volunteers. The goal of hospice is to ensure quality of life for the patient with a life-limiting illness. Hospice is dedicated to ensuring that loved ones die with dignity, without pain, and in a loving environment. The care provided includes pain and symptom management, as well as emotional support for the patient and his family. These comprehensive, cost effective and compassionate services offered by the Hospice of Northeastern Illinois, which is based in Barrington, are available to terminally ill patients living in McHenry, Lake, Cook, DuPage, Kane and Boone Counties.

Among the many supportive services that The Hospice of Northeastern Illinois provides patients and families are the special programs offered for children. These carefully structured programs offer children settings in which they can freely discuss their feelings in groups, tell stories about themselves, express themselves through art, or participate in physical challenges designed to build trust. Camp Courage, a summer day camp for bereaved children ages 6 to 12, is one example of the special programs offered by the Hospice of Northeastern Illinois.

To inquire about patient referral information, or to request a speaker for a community program, call 381-5599.

Phantom Reign has hope for rock future

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Sex and drugs and rock and roll. Isn't that what heavy metal is all about? Not necessarily.

Locally-based heavy metal band Phantom Reign is gaining fans with its original music and thought-provoking lyrics. This drug-free band likes to sing about issues, from hunger in Somalia to the threatened environment.

But don't get the idea the band is squeaky clean. Much of the lyrics are R-rated and don't paint a pretty picture of what's happening in the world.

Kevin Macdonald, guitarist who writes most of the lyrics, said he's often inspired by watching the news.

"Most head bangers don't watch the news, so maybe this is one way they can relate to it," said Macdonald. "We're trying to make people more aware of what's going on in the world."

Phantom Reign came together in 1991 when members of the loosely-formed group Concussion found a lead singer, Corey Lowry. The band, all Grayslake High School graduates, is made up of Macdonald, Lowry, John Splett on guitars, Rich Hammerquist on bass, and Luis Morales on drums. In 1993, they won the Lindenhurst Battle of the Bands.

Since then, Phantom Reign has been busy on the Lake County and Chicagoland bar circuit. The band also recorded a polished compact disc, "No Hope for the Future," with 12 original, guitar-driven songs. Phantom Reign will hold its CD release party at Kristoff's in Round Lake Beach on Dec. 2.

Like most struggling young bands, Phantom Reign members have dreams of making it in the rock and roll business.

"All of us would like to play music as a living," said Splett.

While the band has yet to get any bites on getting signed to a recording label, it's seeing local success. Phantom Reign is getting airplay on local See PHANTOM page B10.

Fairy tale ballet continues Christmas tradition

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

A Nutcracker prince comes to life in a magical land of dancing sweets and toys with the old fashioned charm of a nineteenth-century mansion during a Christmas celebration. These are the visions children delight in and adults love to recall year after year at Christmas time.

This holiday tradition will once again be carried on in Lake County with Dancenter North's seventh annual performance of "The Magic of the Nutcracker."

The coveted role of Clara, which is the dream of many young dancers, went to Elizabeth Lucente, 13, of Libertyville.

Elizabeth was an understudy for this part last year and is described as a strong dedicated dancer who brings a great deal of talent and energy to the role. She attends Highland Junior High School in Libertyville.

"I don't have much time for other activities," she explained. "Most of the time I'm either dancing or doing homework but the payoff is well worth it."

The cast includes more than 150 singers, actors, gymnasts and dancers. They include residents of many Lake County towns. The cast has been practicing for 11 weeks, perfecting their performances for what they hope will be sell-out audiences.

Cheri Lindell of Sylvan Lake is the executive director and choreographer who also works on the technical and business sides of the production.

"Many hours go into the preparations long before we even begin casting for the parts," Lindell explained. "Each year we seem to start earlier and earlier because the sets, props and costumes become more and

"We strive to keep the audience surprised ... it is fun for us to try and top last year."

—Cheri Lindell,
Dancenter North

more intricate. We strive to keep the audience surprised and saying "That was fabulous, I don't remember that from last year, do you?" Actually it is fun for us to try and top last year."

Many other individuals are involved in the work that goes into the production. The Dancenter North production is getting bigger and more spectacular every year they perform. A large network of people pitch in to make the production special, said Lindell. They are a creative close-knit crew and tell her they enjoy the new costumes, sets, choreography and ideas that are a part of the production every year.

Lynda Russ of Green Oaks, is a graphic artist and is involved in many ways. She creates all the programs, posters and flyers for the production. This year she designed a dragon head for a new character in the ballet. This is her 15th year of involvement with the Dancenter.

Sissy DePrima, is the musical director and costume designer. She and her carolers dressed in woolen garb will set the mood back to nineteenth century Germany by beginning the performances with traditional caroling.

Lisa Sheppard, a native of Arizona, is a veteran performer of many Nutcracker productions including the one at the Chicago Arie Crown Theater. She helps with choreography and assists in the costume design as well. She has also taken on the challenge of adding the dragon character created by Russ in the second act of the ballet which takes place in the Kingdom of Sweets.

The Nutcracker story, set in 19th century Germany, centers around young Clara Silberhaus who is celebrating Christmas with her family.

Clara's parents are very wealthy and throw a gigantic party for all their friends on Christmas Eve. When Herr Drosselmeyer, godfather to Clara and her brother Fritz, arrives, the party takes a different turn.

Drosselmeyer is known for being a ingenious inventor and is rather odd. He brings Clara (his favorite godchild), the best present of all, a large wooden nutcracker.

Drosselmeyer uses puppets and magical dolls to tell story of the Nutcracker prince and an evil mouse king. Later in the evening Clara's brother Fritz breaks the nutcracker's head off in a fit of jealousy.

After all the guests have left and everyone is asleep Clara sneaks downstairs to look at her nutcracker lying under the tree. She falls asleep on the floor holding the toy and is awakened by the clock striking midnight.

All of a sudden magical things begin to happen. The Christmas tree grows and the Nutcracker comes to life.

The Nutcracker then engages in a fight with the evil Mouse King and his Mouse Soldiers. Both are mortally wounded during the fight.

When Clara begins to weep over the Nutcracker Drosselmeyer appears out of the shadows and brings the it back to life as a living boy.

The boy leads Clara to a sleigh that takes them through a snow forest to the kingdom of sweets. A celebration is thrown for the two in honor of the slaying of the Mouse King. Every sort of candy possible makes up the kingdom and they all perform amazing dances to entertain and welcome Clara and her prince.

Finally, when it's time to say good-bye the Nutcracker leads Clara away and she awakes in the great hall of her father's house wondering if the adventures were just a dream or real.

The seven performances will take place at the Libertyville High School's Butler Auditorium. There are performances at 1 and 5 p.m. on Dec. 10 and 17, at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 15 and 16, and at 2 p.m. on Dec. 16. All seats are reserved. Tickets may be purchased through Dancenter North's Libertyville office at 540 N. Milwaukee Avenue or call (708) 367-7970. Tickets range in price from $8-$17.

Elizabeth Lucente of Libertyville, playing the lead of Clara in "The Magic of the Nutcracker," admires the gift from her godfather. The Dancenter production will be performed Dec. 10, 15, 16 and 17.

Start a family tradition with 'Family Day Sundays'

Explore local history and traditions with the staff and volunteers of the Lake County Forest Preserves' Lake County Museum at Family Day Sundays.

Join other families in the Museum's galleries for exciting family-oriented activities such as participating in a scavenger hunt, making a bookmark, creating a memory game, or learning about African American history.

Focusing on a different activity each week, Family Day Sundays will be held every Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. beginning Dec. 3. There will be no activities Dec. 24.

General admission to the Museum is $2 for adults and $1 for youth ages 4 to 18. Reservations are not required. The Lake County Museum is located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Rte. 176, just west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda.

For more information call 526-7878.

'Elves and the Shoemaker'

The Performing Arts Center at Barat College will present the children's classic "The Elves and the Shoemaker" Dec. 2 and 3 at 1 and 4 p.m. The performances are geared for children ages 3 to 10 years.

The play tells the story of a kindly shoemaker who has broken his arm and can't make shoes to pay the upcoming rent. His wicked landlord has told him that if he doesn't have the money, she will throw him and his wife out into the streets. The generosity of the shoemaker is made known to three elves who come to the shop to help by sewing a pair of shoes. The shoemaker is able to sell the shoes, pay the rent and repay the elves with kindness as well.

Admittance is $4 for patrons and $3 for groups of 20 or more. The Drake Theater is located at 700 E. Westleigh Rd., Lake Forest. For more information call 295-2620.

'Little Watts' exhibit

A new exhibit and education program at The Power House focuses on showing kids age 8 and under "watts" up with lights, magnets and sound.

The new area includes interactive activities which encourage kids to use their senses to learn about lights, magnets and sound.

While making pictures using magnets and iron filings, they'll learn about the characteristics of magnets (remember, opposites attract). And as they crawl into a kaleidoscope and play with convex and concave lenses, kids will learn about producing different sounds by letting them create their own music—or in some cases, noise.

The Power House is ComEd's hands-on energy education center in Zion. It is located on the shores of Lake Michigan a few miles north of Illinois Beach State Park. There is no admission fee and it is open to the public Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information call 746-7080.

'Beauty and the Beast'

Northbrook Theatre's Children's Company will present a musical version of "Beauty and the Beast" Dec. 2 to 17. Several shows will be staged.

Performance dates and times are as follows: Dec. 2, 9 and 17 at 12:30 and 4 p.m.; Dec. 3 and 10 at 3 p.m.; Dec. 15 at 7 p.m.; and Dec. 16 at 10:30 a.m., 2 and 7 p.m.

All seats are reserved and are priced at $5. The Northbrook Theatre is located at 3323 Walters Ave. in Northbrook. Call 291-2367 for tickets and more information.

Pinocchio comes to life

The Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre for Young Audiences presents "Pinocchio" through Dec. 30 with varying performance times most Mondays and Fridays at 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. and Saturdays at 11 a.m. or 1:30 p.m.

Individual ticket prices are $6 and are available by calling the box office at 634-5909.—by RHONDA HETRICK BURKE radio stations and attracts bigger and bigger crowds at its gigs.

"A lot of people who come to our shows sing along with the lyrics," said Splett.

"They know the songs better than us," Lowry added.

Working full-time jobs and practicing three evenings a week isn't always easy for band members, but you won't hear many complaints from Phantom Reign. Right now, the musicians are enjoying the band too much to complain.

"We look forward to the shows. It's like getting a paycheck," said Lowry.

Phantom Reign is also looking forward to opening a show for Dee Snider, formerly of Twisted Sister, on Jan. 27th at Shades. On Dec. 9, the band will be at the Village Spirit in Round Lake.

"We hope people would come and see us play and give us a chance. We are a very local product and we'd like people to give us an opportunity," said Splett.

NEW SKILLS

How do you stay competitive in today's job market?

When Priscilla Scott of Highland Park decided to make a career change from registered nurse to accountant, she turned to the College of Lake County to acquire the necessary skills.

"I took the accounting course work at CLC that prepared me for the certified public accountant exam, and I got my CPA in 1991. I worked with a few small firms and now have my own accounting practice.

The training I got at CLC was as valuable to me as if I'd gone for a master's degree in accounting, at a fraction of the cost," Priscilla said.

We offer the solution at the College of Lake County.

If you're seeking to start a new career, update your skills or gain new ones, the College of Lake County can provide the training you need at a cost you can afford.

Registration for spring classes is underway. Classes start January 22, 1996.

Downtown Chicago Before Christmas

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Some of my fondest memories of Christmas include going "Downtown" with Grandma to see the Christmas decorations on State Street and pushing through the crowds to see the window displays at Carson's and Marshall Field's. Then, there was the highlight of the day, lunch at Field's Walnut Room! I seldom finished my meal since I spent most of the time staring up at the giant Christmas Tree in the center of the room.

I drove down to Chicago last weekend to relive some of those memories. Grandma's gone now, but the lights on State Street are still there.

So are the windows at Carson's and Marshall Field's. Field's windows are as spectacular as ever, though I don't quite know where Cinderella fits into Christmas. Carson's animated Elves seemed more in the spirit.

The line at the Walnut room ruled out lunch there, but I still got to see the "Giant Tree" from a viewing platform on the 7th floor.

State Street still has the carnival atmosphere of my childhood memories with the smell of food from the many vendors, the sound of street musicians and the crowds of shoppers. Now there's even an ice skating rink where the old Walgreens once stood.

A few blocks away, though, is North Michigan Ave. offering a totally different personality of Chicago with its sophisticated ambience and stores with names like Saks 5th Ave., Neiman Marcus and Tiffany's. I found no food vendors and the closest thing to a street musician was a Salvation Army Bell Ringer.

The store windows did have a Christmas theme, but it's more like Mom opening her new mink coat than animated Elves.

There is a Field's here, too, but I just didn't get the "Christmas of Old" feeling of the original Marshall Field's on State Street.

If you decide to visit Chicago, take advantage of low weekend rates offered by the Downtown hotels. The Bismarck (312) 236-0123, The Ambassador West (312) 787-3700, and the Hyatt Regency (312) 565-1234 have some pretty good weekend rates.

Move over, Dave Barry!

With Colin Powell's recent announcement that he will definitely not run for President, we are suddenly left with a possible field of candidates that includes an incumbent waffler, an amphibious relative of the salamander (and they say Clinton can't make up his mind—"Water? Land? Water? Land?"), a cranky

Senator who moonlights as a movie critic, and a nationally known humor columnist, specifically Dave Barry.

So, now that Powell has officially withdrawn from the race he never actually entered, and based on the fact that Dave Barry was running solely on Powell's platform which doesn't exist, I think it's time for a humor columnist whom no one has heard of to step in (sorry, Dave, but the future of our country is at stake). Not just any humor columnist—a WOMAN (that's pronounced W-O-M-A-N).

Yes, folks, that's what this race for President needs. A woman who can laugh in the face of irregularity; a woman willing to defend to the death her decisions (until she changes her mind); a woman who can "bring home the bacon, fry it up in a pan, and never, never let you forget you're a man." Specifically—me.

Let me be frank (next week, you can be frank): Dave Barry is no more qualified than I am. For example, Dave cites his rock band experience as a qualification. Big deal. I, too, have rock band experience—as a singer. Really. However, unlike Dave, I never sang songs with dumb lyrics like, "Naaa, na, na, na, naaaa..." No.

We did Clapton, Dave. And Neil Young. "I wanna live with a Cinnamon Girl..." Now THOSE are LYRICS! And our band had a CURITY TAXES ON HOUSEHOLD HELP.

I have raised my family without benefit of a paid nanny or housekeeper, which means the IRS will have no reason to check my past tax returns. No reason at all. None. Nada.

2. SLEPT WITH SOMEONE NAMED

DONNA. Actually, I don't see the problem with that.

3. HUSBAND HAS MAFIA TIES. My husband does not have Mafia ties. He does, however, have a risqué snowman T-shirt (hint—the snowman has a carrot for a nose), but I'll burn it if I have to. And while we're on the subject of the syndicate, I hate to resort to mud slinging, but the public has a right to know—Dave Barry is paid for his column by a syndicate.

There, I've done it. My hat is in the ring. Not that this has been an easy decision for me. It was made after a great deal of soul searching (such as, "Would I make lots of money? Yes! Do I have to clean the White House? No! Okay, I'll do it!"). I had to consider my family's needs, too ("Let me get this straight—you ALL want to sleep in Lincoln's bedroom!"). But what really clinched the decision for me was the fact that, as President, I will have a lot of clout with my kids. ("See here, missy—I have two Secret Service men who will back me up, if necessary. They are ARMED. Now eat your broccoli!").

So, if you're fed up with candidates who want to be elected just for the power, vote for me. I'm doing it for the power and the money!

LIFE'S A BEAR

great political name—"The Ultimatots." (I think Clinton just gave Newt an "ultimato," which is why the government shut down).

Perhaps my most compelling qualification is my experience as a mother of four children. Having survived 19 years of child-rearing (notice I didn't say survived "with my sanity intact"), I will have no problem dealing with all those whining Senators and Congressmen. I'll just send them to Bosnia without supper.

As for where I stand on our country's pressing issues, here are two examples:

1. LOBBYING. Just say no. (As in, "No. I don't think $10,000 is quite enough").

2. BALANCING THE BUDGET. There isn't room here to provide you with complete details, but I would start by getting rid of those people who take your picture at the driver's license facilities. Take a look at your driver's license photo—it's obvious they're not fit for their job!

I have also paid close attention over the years to the various scandals and mistakes that have brought down other political candidates, and I can assure you that none of the following problems will arise in my campaign:

1. DIDN'T PAY SOCIAL SE-

Beer isn't just for drinking

Finally, beer is coming into its own. A flood of micro-breweries has expanded horizons for the consumer, and the popularity of home brewing is surging.

"A Taste for Beer," a new guidebook by Stephen Beaumont (Storey Communications Inc., $14.95), chronicles the rebirth of North American beers. Besides a comprehensive guidebook to today's ales and lagers, the book includes several good recipes for beer, from a Barbecued Stout Pasta Sauce to Beer Focaccia.

Beer and Bean Soup was well-received in our household.

Beer and Bean Soup

1 lb. dried navy beans
1/2 c. diced bacon
1/2 c. diced smoked ham
1/2 c. diced leeks
1 c. diced onions
1 c. diced carrots
1 c. diced celery
2 quarts water
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. thyme
1 T. minced fresh garlic
1 T. salt
1 T. black pepper
1 14-oz. can tomatoes, hand crushed
12 oz. brown ale
2 T. sugar

Soak the beans overnight in enough water to cover. In a large pot, sauté the bacon and ham over medium heat until the fat is rendered from the bacon (do not cook bacon to crispness). Reduce heat to low and add the vegetables, cooking them until almost tender. Add the water, bay leaf, thyme, garlic, salt and pepper, and bring to a boil. Add the drained beans.

Cover the pot and simmer the soup until the beans are tender, one to two hours. When the beans begin to break apart, add the tomatoes, beer and sugar, and simmer for 15 minutes. Be careful not to boil the soup at this point. Discard the bay leaf. Adjust seasonings to taste and serve. This recipe makes eight one-cup portions.—by TOM WITOM

Douglas, Bening percolate as love brews in White House

Michael Douglas

Two of today's masters of heartwarming romantic comedy are Ron Howard and Rob Reiner. Reiner, who first delved so successfully into the winsome, witty poetry of love in the humorous fable "Princess Bride," has come up with one of the most enjoyable movies to be released this season, "The American President."

Actually, in this American political fable, Reiner's Clintonesque (sans Hillary) Oval Office is occupied by a very liberal, handsome widower. Michael Douglas is a most distinguished and sexy President Charming.

Annette Bening gives Meg Ryan and Sandra Bullock a run for their beguiling money as she glitters and gleams her way into Douglas' heart without slipping on a saccharine banana peel.

Bening is out to turn Douglas into an environmentalist despite budgetary problems. Douglas is out to turn her into his girlfriend. All this is aided by a fast-paced, funny script and a strong supporting cast with the President bombing Libya between kisses.

Michael J. Fox, former Nixon idolizer of TV's "Family Ties," is just as politically avid as a spin doctor for the other side of the street, and Richard Dreyfus plays the poker faced, mud slinging President wannabee leading the other party. Martin Sheen as Douglas' right hand man completes the supporting triumvirate.

This movie is as delightful as another presidential farce, "Dave," but it's much more politically and sexually provocative. "President" would have just about everything needed for a most unbelievable, but gloriously amusing two hours, if it hadn't been just a titch touched with a partisan popular political portent strongly present in tinsel town, and advocated loudly, clearly, and most entertainingly by its inhabitants.

Reiner's politics taint, but do not tarnish the film, so we give "President" 4.5 out of five stars. The "President" also has a PG-13 rating.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) The beginning of the week is hectic for you and you find it difficult to get back into the groove. However, by week's end, you are productive and accomplish much. Take time to do some holiday shopping.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Digging your heels in early in the week isn't going to get you the result you want. Instead, try to be diplomatic and charming. People respond better to you when you're not being so irrationally stubborn.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You find yourself torn between two warring sides of your personality now. Part of you wants to take an aggressive, take-no-prisoners approach on the job and the other part wants to be more laid back. You resolve this by week's end.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You're showing a bit of typical crabbiness now since one holiday's over and another is yet to begin. Pick up your mood with some festive holiday shopping. You'll find just the right gifts for that special someone.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Granted, you had a roaring good time over the holiday, but it's time to get back to business. Postpone further merriment until later in the month when the situation warrants. For now, stick to what must be done.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You spend a good part of the week picking up after your holiday company. A perfectionist, this will take you longer than you'd like but it all gets done to your ultimate satisfaction. A child needs advice this weekend.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Concentration isn't your strong suit as you head back to work after the holiday. You're humming those special holiday songs in your head and having visions of sugarplums. This doesn't go over well with co-workers.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You are tempted early in the week to make a stinging remark to someone who disappoints you. However, try to be compassionate. This person is, after all, only human and you've made mistakes yourself. Relax at home this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You vacillate between getting much done and doing nothing throughout the week now. This is because your energy only serves you in spurts and isn't consistent. Perhaps you overate over the holiday and need to correct this.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Persistence will get you what you want early in the week at work. However, a co-worker isn't apt to follow your lead and wants to take a different tack. Listen to what's being said. Perhaps you can learn something.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) By all means, go after what it is you want now. You'll be unstoppable and make many career gains by week's end. Get-togethers with friends from out of town highlight your weekend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You're in the doldrums in the early part of the week but this soon dissipates. Your mate is doing everything possible to be considerate of your mood, so make sure you express your appreciation.

Leisure Point has reputation for fine food, casual ambiance

If a great evening out with the family or that special someone is what you want, a visit to Leisure Point in Fox Lake, where the first priority is its customers, is in order.

The fantastic food enjoyed by Leisure Point's diners is only equaled by the magnificent view they are offered. The restaurant itself seats 120 people for dinner, and up to 90 customers can be served at the large bar and lounge that also features a huge TV for viewing.

Listed among the restaurant's specialties are various delicious entrees including Prime Rib, Filet Mignon, Filet Vesuvio, Barbecued Ribs, thick Pork Chops, besides seafood items like grilled Salmon and Brazilian Lobster Tail. Try the house dressing on your salad as well as one of the homemade soups. Warm bread is served with every entree.

Sample some of the delectable appetizers to be found on the menu such as a Shrimp Cocktail, Potato Skins, Calamari, Buffalo Wings and Oysters Rockefeller. Don't fail to choose a fine wine from Leisure Point's extensive wine list. Only one of our marvelous desserts, like our tantalizing Dutch Apple or Key Lime Pie, not to mention a scrumptious slice of Cheese Cake, is the perfect ending to any of the fine meals we offer.

For those who love food from across the border, Wednesday night is Mexican Night when the menu features our Mexican entrees, with Steak Fajitas, Enchiladas, Quesadillas and more, all made right on the premises.

Besides our luncheon specials, Leisure Point also features early dining Sunset Dinners during the week from 4 to 7 p.m.

For those who enjoy the finest in foods, while being comfortable in casual attire, Leisure Point is open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m., and on weekends, when live entertainment is featured, until 3 a.m. With the holidays approaching, we urge you to take advantage of our banquet facilities where we custom tailor our services to your needs. Plan your parties now! Lee Mohr at (708) 973-0235 is waiting for your call.

Gale St. Inn the place for holiday dining

As the icy winter winds start to blow, we realize that the holidays are almost upon us. The warmth and coziness of the Gale St. Inn, located at 906 Diamond Lake Rd., with its inviting fireplaces in both dining rooms, is a welcome atmosphere.

Whether you're looking for a simple, but scrumptious meal, or planning a gala holiday party, the large and varied menu and pleasant surroundings make Gale St. Inn the place to be.

Make your special holiday reservations early, especially for your Christmas party. In business since 1977, Gale St. has facilities to serve groups from 20 to 200 people. For further information on the perfect place for seasonal parties or wedding receptions, call Sharon Szubinski at (708)566-1090. A gift certificate to Gale St. makes the perfect Christmas gift. Gale St. will have an open menu, live entertainment, hats and noisemakers, all it takes for a great celebration. Be sure to make your reservations in advance!

Voted No. 1 and No. 2 by two local publications, Gale St. Inn is the choice of BBQ Rib and Prime Rib fanciers. If steak, lam, pork chops, or seafood are among your favorite entrees, Gale St. offers only the best, plus much more. A bountiful salad bar and choice of potato is included with every entree, with a different special featured each evening. If combos are your thing, Gale St. offers rib and shrimp or chicken and rib combos, or you can create your own.

If the generous portions leave room for dessert, top your meal off with their varieties of cheesecake, apple strudel, strawberry shortcake or ice cream, especially the spumoni or sherbet. Children have their own menu.

Gale St. invites you to enjoy the contemporary music of Arnie Evans, Tuesday through Saturday evenings, featured in the lounge in November and December.

Whether its enjoying the sight of the glittering snow on the lake from your cozy table, the nautical atmosphere, friendly service or delicious food, Gale St. Inn will keep you coming back. Hours are Tuesday through Saturday lunch, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., dinner from 3 to 10 p.m. and until midnight on weekends, and from noon to 10 p.m. on Sundays. Closed Mondays. For reservations, especially on weekends, call (708)566-1090.

Unique calendars hit the scene as new popular art form

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

As 1995 winds down in a flurry of holiday activity, the calendar industry is prepared for 1996 with thousands of offerings for every special interest.

A sampling of those inspirations will be on display at the David Adler Cultural Center from Dec. 1 to 10. It will be the first public exhibition of calendars in the United States, said Laura Hack, assistant director for the Calendar Marketing Association located in Libertyville. The DACC is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday.

"We're hoping to get national, international and local attention," she said. "We'd like to have a 'People's Choice' award to recognize the calendar voted most favorite."

Those calendars will also be entered in competition for the World and National Calendar Awards. Entries will be judged according to category type, by professionals in the calendar industry, said Hack. The deadline for the sixth annual contest is Dec. 29. For contest information call the Calendar Marketing Association at 816-8660.

Many people buy calendars as art, said Hack, because they are attractive as well as functional. Prices have crept up to an average of $11 to $14, but that doesn't seem to deter buyers. The average household, she said, has six calendars on desks and walls.

The top 10 best selling calendars of 1995 in order of popularity were: The Far Side, 365 Cats, Sierra Club Wilderness, Garfield, Disney, Dilbert, Magic Eye, Ansel Adams, Sports Illustrated Swimsuit and Mary Engelbreit.

—Laura Hack
Calendar Marketing Association

There has been an increase in the number of inspirational and humorous calendars during the past several years, said Hack.

Some of the more unusual offerings for 1996 include "Garbage Men of Connecticut" and "When you Lick a Slug, Your Tongue Goes Numb." The hot designs are expected to be Magic Eye calendars and those featuring Barney, Pocahontas, the "American Girls," as well as "Men are From Mars, Women are from Venus," and the 1996 Olympics preview, Hack said.

"Anything you can think of, there is probably a calendar out there or a thought of one," she said.

The shopping season for calendars begins in October, she said, and doesn't wind down until February. Kiosks are popping up in shopping malls and some stores now handle calendars exclusively.

For those searching for a calendar on a particular subject, Hack said, a national calendar data base is in the works.

"We're inputting any calendar we receive or hear about," she said. "It will be an invaluable resource. Nobody out there has something like this."

Educator encourages lifelong learning

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

Just call her Lake County's "school marm."

Maybe Mary Charuhas never thought of herself that way, but thousands of county adults owe the redirection of their lives and maybe a job to her conviction that "you're never too old to learn new things."

As associate dean of adult continuing education and extension services at the College of Lake County, Charuhas oversees a far-reaching network of educational services offered by CLC reaching beyond conventional degree programs and special skills training.

Charuhas' responsibility is adult education, but her specialty is helping people change their lives so they can succeed in a rapidly changing world.

To dramatize how technology and the shift to an information society has changed the working world, Charuhas declared, "People who graduated from high school 10 years ago and haven't expanded their education can't compete in today's job market. Our aim is to give them the tools to 'jump start' their careers and their lives."

CLC and Dean Charuhas open the doors for adults with a literacy program that leads to GED certification and continuing education or recreational learning in non-degree fields. Charuhas also supervises extension sites at various points around the county.

It's the opportunities CLC offers non-English speaking adults and adults who require literacy and mathematical skills that give Charuhas her greatest satisfaction.

Charuhas never planned on becoming an educational professional, but a volunteer stint as a Navy wife teaching inmates at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center brig convinced her to follow a new calling.

"I fell in love with teaching in the brig. The work was interesting and challenging. There's wasn't a discipline problem. The Marine guards made sure of that," Charuhas chuckled.

What appeals to Charuhas most about working with adults is that they are more motivated. "They See EDUCATOR page C4

Overloaded household budget signals serious trouble

The monthly bills are due. And no amount of belt tightening will produce enough funds to pay the bills on time. The credit cards are at the limit and Christmas is just a few weeks away with more bills and more debt.

If this sounds familiar, you aren't alone. While relatively few American families are so far in debt that they can't get out of it, many are coming close. Spending beyond the family means is a common dilemma.

Brenda Cude, Univ. of Illinois Extension consumer economics specialist, offered these warning signs that you are heading toward or have already reached your limit.

- You are making only minimum payments on your monthly credit account.
- You have to use credit for expenses you once paid for with cash.

- You find it difficult, if not impossible, to save even small amounts for unexpected expenses.

- You have more and more stop taking on more debt and plan some new strategies," Cude said.

First, find out where your money is going. If you keep track

'Once you get your expenses under control, you can begin saving money for unexpected expenses or for luxuries that you cannot afford today.'

—Brenda Cude

Univ. of Illinois Extension consumer economics specialist trouble each month stretching your budget to make ends met.

- You begin to run a few days late on rent or mortgage payments, or you are consistently late paying all your bills.

- You rely on income from working overtime or a second job to pay bills.

"If any of these statements describe you, it's important to of your expenses for one month, you may find that those items you purchase without much thought add up to hundreds of dollars every year. Examine your expenses to see where you can cut spending to free up more money for your monthly payments.

In some cases you may need to approach one or more of your lenders and try to either reduce or defer monthly payments without having to pay a penalty.

"Be honest in explaining your cash flow problem and ask lenders to help you get back on your feet," Cude said.

Financial counseling is also available locally. Check the phone book for a local Consumer Credit Counseling Service.

It's best not to wait too long to get help, Cude said. If you continue to miss payments, lenders will be forced to repossess the item or even to obtain a court order to garnish your wages. Lenders will also report your delinquent payments to a credit bureau which will damage your credit rating.

"Get on the right track as soon as possible," urged Cude. "Once you get your expenses under control, you can begin saving money for unexpected expenses or for luxuries that you cannot afford today."

Patch, primp for winter house sale

If you plan to sell your house this winter, now is the time to paint, patch and primp it up "for company," advises home-sale expert Wilbur G. Luther.

"The fast-paced Chicago housing market is just as vigorous in winter as during the rest of the year, so a homeowner intending to sell should put the house's best face forward," says Luther.

Luther, senior vice president and general manager of the residential sales group of Baird & Warner, the Chicago area's leading real estate company, adds: "Often it just takes a fresh coat of paint, a thorough cleaning—both inside and out—and minor patching to bring a house to its full potential for home buyers. This sprucing-up also can help command the best possible price."

Luther offers these suggestions for home sellers:

- Fall weather is cool enough so you can paint inside rooms and is usually warm enough so you can open windows for speedy drying and to eliminate paint smell.

- If a driveway is cracked, take advantage of good weather to patch and seal it.

- Clean roof gutters of leaves and debris, as well as tidy up the entire yard, before your first open house. A clogged gutter can result in an ice dam after freezing and thawing. This can push up and damage roof shingles, and the thought of having to repair a roof, inspired by a look at debris-filled gutters, can scare away potential buyers.

- Check the heating system to make sure that it is operating properly. Also check around the windows and doors for leaks.

- Check and replace caulking, if necessary, around doors and windows and outside water outlets.

- Cover the outdoor air conditioning unit and bring in the portable barbecue and outdoor furniture. Even though these items can withstand winter weather, it could appear to prospective buyers that you are careless about your possessions and, possibly, your home.

"Your overall goal is to convey to a prospective buyer that you are a responsible homeowner and that your home has been well maintained as a sound investment," Luther says, adding: "New owners want to be able to assume that the home is functional as well as comfortable."

"After buying a house, most owners—especially first-timers—spend some money on furniture and furnishing for comfort and aesthetics. Many don't want costly repair bills soon after taking possession of the house."

Luther also advises home sellers to keep careful record of money spent on improvements when they're fixing up the house for resale. For example, items such as a new water heater or window treatments may be tax-deductible if the work was done within 90 days before the sales contract and was paid for within 30 days later.

Because of the intricacies of the tax situation, Luther recommends that home sellers discuss deductible expenses with their tax accountant. Real estate brokers also may suggest other improvements, often minor, that can help impress prospective buyers.

Chamber commends Sen. Peterson's efforts

The Illinois Chamber commended State Senator William Peterson (R-Long Grove) for his efforts in the Senate's override of the veto of House Bill 1810.

"This bill, which Senator Peterson sponsored in the spring session, will provide small self-employed business owners the same health care insurance premium deductions that larger businesses are allowed," said Chamber President and CEO Sally A. Jackson. "In standing up for these small businesses Bill Peterson once again exhibited leadership and vision."

The bill was vetoed by the Governor after its passage due to concerns about the estimated $9 million reduction to state revenues. Updated methodology, however, puts the cost at closer to $4.7 million.

"This bill provides a small break for those businesses that need it the most," Jackson stated. "We appreciate both chamber's efforts in passing legislation that will assure these small business owners receive fair treatment."

The Illinois Chamber is the largest broad-based business organization in the state. It has been the voice of business in Illinois for more than 75 years.

Is your credit report accurate?

In today's world, your credit history is sacred. You can't rent an apartment, apply for insurance or obtain a credit card, car loan or mortgage without a check of your credit history.

But you may not be aware of all the other companies and individuals who can gain access to your credit records. If you apply to a university, try to join a country club — even if you're a candidate for a new job — these organizations and companies also may be checking out your credit report.

What they will find in your report is the history of your payments on loans, mortgages, credit cards and other debt. They will learn not only whether you made all your regular payments, but also how prompt you were. Judgments, bankruptcies, liens and other unfavorable events are all there.

No problem, you say. You've always paid your bills on time, you never carry balances on your credit cards, and you've never been sued. So what if people are checking your records?

According to a recent report in Personal Finance magazine, up to 33 percent of all credit reports contain serious errors. These include incorrect tax identification numbers, limited data or worse mistakes that can be damaging. These very mistakes can result in your being denied a car loan, mortgage or even a new job.

Obviously, it's to your benefit to make sure your credit records are correct, and it's pretty simple to do so. There are three major credit reporting bureaus — TRW, Equifax and Trans Union — and all will provide you with a copy of your credit report. The report is free if you've been denied credit within the past 60 days; otherwise, there is generally a small charge. However, TRW provides one complimentary report each year.

To obtain a report, you must submit a written request, and each credit bureau has specific requirements about what information to include in your request. All three bureaus provide recorded phone messages that spell out all the details of obtaining a credit report. Here are the phone numbers:

TRW: 800-682-7654

Equifax: 800-685-1111

Trans Union: 216-779-7200

How do third parties get copies of your report? They must submit requests with your signature approving release of information. However, you may sometimes give this approval unknowingly — for example, when you apply for credit. Offers of "pre-approved" credit, according to a TRW representative, can be misleading. Signing an application for a "pre-approved" loan or credit card simply means you agree to a credit check. If your credit report is negative, you'll probably still be denied.

These national credit bureaus store credit information as reported by your creditors. Each bureau's report may contain different information. If you find any errors, correct them immediately. To do so, you typically must file a dispute with the credit bureau and prove the error. Even if there are no apparent mistakes now, it's a good practice to recheck your credit reports during your annual financial check-up.

Credit is a way of life for most Americans. It's not only your responsibility to use it properly, but also to make sure it's recorded properly.

Educator

know that if they want to get a better job or get a raise, they have to expand their education and skills," pointed out the out-going educational administrator whose matronly demeanor is ideally suited for her job.

"We don't have any drop outs," the CLC dean remarked.

Charuhas and her staff work closely with leaders in business and industry, forming "partnerships" to address specific needs and tasks. The CLC program moves from acquisition of basic skills to problem solving—just what industry needs in today's world of "push down" decision making.

Business participants see a marked drop in absenteeism and accidents from "graduates" of CLC adult programs.

Dean Charuhas supervises a vast network of professionals and volunteers. There are 300 non-paid adults teaching reading alone.

"In our family literacy program, it's exciting to teach parents so they in turn can help their children," Charuhas remarked. At CLC, adult education also involves public aid recipients, inmates at the County Jail, and substance abusers who are working to rehabilitate themselves.

Lake County's changing demographics are putting a strain on CLC's efforts to help adults improve themselves. "We're running out of teachers for our English as a second language program."

Whenever Charuhas appears before community groups like retired executives belonging to the Grayslake Round Table there are always parts of her story that Mary is forced to leave unsaid.

But that's the fascinating part of her life in adult education. There are always more people to help and more work to be done.

Pickell Builders earns key awards

Orren Pickell Builders, Inc. was the recipient of numerous key awards, the prestigious annual recognition for architectural and design excellence, from the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago. Pickell Builders won a total of 13 awards in the gold, silver and bronze key competition.

The concept house, a luxurious state-of-the-art Riverwoods residence that blends old world craftsmanship with cutting-edge homebuilding technology, received four awards: a gold key for a single family home for sale (4,501 square feet and over); a gold key for a special home (4,000 to 5,500 square feet); a silver key for a semi-custom and spec home for sale or sold (4,000 to 6,000 square feet); and a silver key for a single-family architectural home design (4,500 to 5,500 square feet).

Among Pickell's silver key award-winning homes is a cozy, single-family home located in the northwest suburb of Kildeer and a home in Deerwood Estates.

The Tradition Starts With You

Hurry, Only 3 Weeks Left To Become A Founder!

Libertyville Bank & Trust Company has just opened, bringing with it a hometown tradition that has been missing from this area for too long.

Be part of this historic occasion. When you open a "Founder" account, you'll help launch the only locally owned and managed bank around. Plus, you'll lock in a lifetime of incredible banking benefits:

- Your checking account, believe it or not, will not require a minimum balance — there will not be a monthly service charge — and that's FOR LIFE;
- Your first 200 personal-size checks from our exclusive "Libertyville Collection" depicting familiar scenes of the area are FREE (and if you have a supply of unused checks at another bank, we'll buy them back for up to $10);
- The face of your checks will always bear the designation "Founder" distinguishing you as a pioneer in bringing community banking back to Libertyville;
- You will always receive a premium interest rate of .25% above our regular published annual percentage yield (APY) on closed-end certificates of deposit FOR LIFE;

One-Year Founder's Account CD Starting at 6.27% APY

- You may be eligible FOR LIFE to never pay more than the floating Prime Rate on a Home Equity Line of Credit. Home Equity Lines of Credit over $100,000 will pay the floating Prime Rate less .25%. Application fees, closing costs and annual fees will be waived. However, property insurance will be required;
- You may be eligible for Overdraft Protection up to $5,000 at the floating Prime Rate plus 1%;
- You may be eligible for a Personal Line of Credit up to $15,000 priced at the floating Prime Rate plus 1% FOR LIFE;
- You will be granted immediate issuance of a scenic Libertyville Cash Station card with a personalized identification number of your choice. There is no annual fee for the card;
- You may be eligible for MasterCard and Visa accounts with no annual fee;
- You will receive a free 3" x 5" safe deposit box or the equivalent credit towards a larger box FOR LIFE;
- There will never be a fee when you purchase American Express Travelers Cheques;
- Bond coupon redemption will be free FOR LIFE;
- A contribution of $5.00 will be made in your name to a local charity.

Simply open a traditional checking account, which has no minimum balance requirements and no monthly fee. Then, open one other account with an initial deposit of $5,000 or more (savings account, certificate of deposit, or money market account). Stop in and meet a personal banker, or call 367-6800 to open your account by mail. Join the "Founder's Club" and help bring real hometown banking back to your community.

But hurry, the Founder account will only be available through December 31, and then it won't be available ever again!

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (708) 223-8073

Lakeland
Newspapers

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Issue tickets

Grayslake Police Dept., you said no commuter parking on South Lake Street during the lot renovation, but the same cars parked by the asphalt company every day never get a ticket. Cars park on the grassy median in the parking lot, pull up on the grass at 6:30 in the morning when there are 100 spaces left and never get a ticket. But when I put a token in the wrong slot, I get a ticket. You'd make a lot more money ticketing the cars on South Lake Street.

Wishy washy

Wake up, Grant Township! Gordy Klesgen now decided he wants to put the new township hall back on Washington Street. First it was Washington Street, then it was the Fox Lake Community Center, then it was Molitor Road, now it's back to Washington Street. I thought we voted this guy in to make a decision. And his brother wants to take care of private roads? Especially the Burkhardt Lane road? Well, his brother's in her will and as soon as she dies, he gets all the land going to the lake where he has boats and duck hunts. Come on, Grant Township, wake up before they change it to "Klesgenville."

Sin of omission

Good job, Brad Wilson, soccer coach at Antioch High School. I wonder how much you hurt two young men when you chose not to announce their varsity soccer achievements at the ACHS sports awards. All-conference and All-sectional is something they worked hard for and expected it to be announced in front of their peers. You humiliated and hurt them, you can never give that moment back to them. Good job, Bill Johnson and Cal Cruickshank. You deserved better from your coach. It didn't go unnoticed by parents and students alike. I hope this helps.

Ritalin is needed

I'm calling in response to "Forget Ritalin." I don't know who you are or why you're knocking the drug, but I'll tell you my children are better off for having been put on Ritalin. It makes it easier for them to learn, remember, and absorb things. Just because some teachers use it as candy doesn't mean all kids on it shouldn't be on it.

Go, Carolyn

I'm calling from Gurnee and I wanted to make a point of congratulating Carolyn Gievers, who's swimming for a state title. I'm disappointed your paper chose not to mention it.

Sit down, shut up

I'm calling about the Fox River Grove tragedy on the bus. I used to drive a bus, too. Children were loud, screaming, and rude. One of the kids stated that the kids were teasing the bus driver about not knowing her way around. Odds are that when this tragedy happened, the driver was flustered from the kids yelling. When they started yelling about the train, she didn't take them seriously. If kids were taught to sit down and shut up, this wouldn't have happened. Maybe the parents need to talk to the children.

Too good

The person who called Lipservice to say they don't need a tax break because they're so rich is either a saint or a liar!

Drug is helping

I'm calling about the comment, "Forget Ritalin." I'm the mother of an ADD child. Yes, some teachers do think that Ritalin causes them to behave so they don't have to deal with the headache of handling them, but in my opinion this drug is helping my son settle down enough to learn. When you have something like ADD, it's uncontrollable and is hard to settle down and learn. He's only on it during school hours. The person who called must not have an ADD child and doesn't know what they're talking about.

Vote him out

This is to all residents of Fox Lake Hills subdivision. Once again, I see that our highway commissioner, Jim Semmerling, has made the paper. This time it's for tagging our subdivision signs for removal. These are the same signs that have been in place for two years and were just reinstalled when work on Route 59 was completed. These signs are no different than those used by subdivisions all over Lake County. In the four years that I've lived here, I've seen the following things occur: when asked to install speed limit signs, he told parents to keep their damn kids off the street (they were later installed with pressure coming from the Lake County Board); a road department employee was caught on tape using township water pumps to pump out his home on company time; he's blocked state block grants after approval from county and state to prevent flooding in our subdivision; the department purchased a wood chipper, then stopped chipping trees because of lending it to other towns; he was forced to stop snowplowing from private property and then created a policy that you cannot plow roads before 8 a.m. or after 5 p.m., nor on weekends (he changed it only after residents requested by certified letter that he maintain roads per state law); he has threatened to have our street lights turned off several times; he refuses to come to township board meetings to explain his budget; and he's paved only part of the subdivision roads claiming he was out of money, when as of September of 1995, he still had 50 percent remaining in his budget and claimed that those that didn't get their roads paved opposed it. The most disturbing fact is his total disrespect he has for residents and elected officials. Many of the members that ran on his ticket have spoken out against his way of doing things. Please remember that when election comes up for a new road commissioner, we have approximately 900 homes in Fox Lake Hills, which represents over 800 voters.

No seat belts

As a bus driver of five years, I'd like to add a professional opinion on the issue of seat belts on a school bus. Bus seats were designed with higher backs to help insure children. See LIPSERVICE page C7 don't become airborne in case of an impact. Parents, please be aware that how your child sits on a bus is important. Their feet should be on the floor, their heads and backs against the back of the seat. Book bags should be on their laps. Nothing should be in the aisles. If seat belts were installed, one concern is that some children would use them as weapons. Others would not buckle up, and if there was an accident, a driver would have a very difficult time helping up to 70 students unbuckle. It all boils down to that a child's behavior has a direct result on everyone's safety.

Get it together

I'm calling from Wauconda. Dr. Barbin and the Wauconda Unit District 118 School Board members are a joke. Last year they changed the school hours because they needed to change the busing around because the junior high students were waiting a half hour after school for buses. Now I read in the paper that Robert Crown students in kindergarten and first grade are waiting up to 25 minutes after school for buses and they want to add on two more buses. This is a joke, why don't you people get your acts together!

Pot is better

To "Don't legalize," you state in here that we can't handle alcohol as a human race. That's true. We don't need alcohol. If we had pot instead, everything would be wonderful. Don't talk about pot unless you've tried it. It's much better and you can straighten your act out if you're in a tight situation. When you're on alcohol, you can't do that or you die.

Maintain schools

I just want to say that I hope the new Gavin school that's being built will be well taken care of. I went to Gavin North and was sickened with the janitorial work and upkeep I saw being done. I couldn't believe how dirty it was. The mop goes down the middle of the hallway, not on the sides. Other voters were making the same comments. So, for all of you that have worked so hard to get the new school, let's maintain what we have already and pay taxes on.

That's the fact

This is to the person that complained about Round Lake not calling JULIE and having their phone line cut. If this person knew anything, when you call JULIE it's only for gas lines. This person should get their facts straight before they call and complain.

Son is innocent

To the moron who thinks that the real killer wasn't O.J., his older son was at a party where there was 20 people who said he was there. Maybe O.J. had help, but he did do it. Even the jurors have said that they know he did it, but they had a problem with doubt. If you're so stupid to think that a football hero can't have the same emotions as a regular person, you don't even belong on this planet!

Let's save trees

I'm calling in reference to the Rainier Woods project in Fox Lake, north of Rollins. The proposed 39 units on seven acres is ridiculously high density. Lower density would allow many of the beautiful trees to be saved and improve the quality of the village. Residents need to take note and vote out the Fox Lake politicians who support this before the rest of the village is overdeveloped.

Do a good deed

Everyone reading this today make a resolution to complete one charitable act during the holiday season. Give to a food drive, give warm clothing, or donate a present for a child, but do it! Once you know how good it feels, try to do it sometimes after the season, too. You can really make a difference!

War zone

Do you want to see the perfect example of a job screwed up? Then take a ride down Round Lake Drive in Round Lake Beach. The village contracted out the job to a well known company. For one, they started the job too late in the year. After tearing up the road and people's driveways, they resurfaced the street and laid down a Petro Mat. The mat was never put in place right therefore the road is literally rolling up! Hunks of the mat are in people's yards, tangled in cars, and hanging in the trees. Hunks of road are just plain missing. It looks like a war zone. It was very embarrassing for residents on Thanksgiving when guests arrived for dinner to drive on a road that was getting caught in their cars. To make matters worse, there are still large gaps between driveways and the so-called road. Plus, man-hole covers are sticking up a good six inches. The village contacted this company and they came out and pulled off some of the mat, but now it looks worse. I'm told the full repair won't come until spring, when the weather stays over 40 degrees. In the meantime, we have to look out our windows at this mess. Maybe the village should screw up when they go and pay these guys. After all, we still have to pay our taxes!

Legalize and tax it

In this is pot legal or not issue, prohibition never works, never ever. Pot should be legal. Just think of all the money that could be raised. The government wouldn't have shut down if pot was legal. You'd have family farmers growing valuable crops so they wouldn't have to sell their land to some scum developer. There's no question, it should be legal and sold in stores like cigarettes or booze. Tax it, and no problem!

Bah, humbug

Christmas giving is phony. People go into debt and give because they're pressured into it, not because they want to. It also causes a lot of hurt feelings and jealousy. It's humbug! True giving doesn't need a tradition to give. The best gift of all is showing your love and caring for another all year round.

Clark no superman

I would like to know who is running the town of Antioch. Is it the mayor or is it Kenneth Clark? Ken Clark, the district attorney for Antioch, seems to be running the whole show. Every time the mayor wants to say something, Ken Clark stops her and speaks for her. I'm sick of it. He's trashing the businesses in Antioch and everybody else. But the mayor doesn't say anything. We need some help here.

Educate yourself

My first thing I'd like to say is don't edit this. I would like to respond to "Forget Ritalin." You should do some research and educate yourself on the subject before you spout off. Teachers don't give kids Ritalin. It is prescribed by medical doctors only after extensive testing. Ritalin does not drug kids. It is a medication which corrects a chemical imbalance in the brain. Once this is done, behavior modification can begin. Some, not all children, need this medication. You can't just go get it. You wouldn't tell a teacher See LIPSERVICE page C8 not to give a diabetic insulin, would you? To those who require this medication, it is just as vital. Without it, they too will die—socially, academically, and emotionally.

Use harness, too

This message is directed to Dennis Canton, the man that wanted to push for mandatory seat belts on school buses. Not too long ago I saw on TV a story about two boys who were wearing only lap belts when they were in an accident. When the car stopped suddenly, they were flung forward with such impact that their spines hyperextended and they're now paralyzed. So when you push for those seatbelts, make them harness belts, not just lap belts.

Don't tread on me

I had a couple of girls walk by my house with a cocker spaniel, who were letting the dog go to the bathroom in my yard. When I knocked on my window to tell them to stop, one of them gave me the finger. I would like to say if you have a dog, don't let them go on other people's property, only your own. It's just common courtesy. I can't believe how rude young people are these days.

Learn about ADD

I'm calling in regard to the person who wrote "Forget Ritalin." We can only say that my daughter has been on Ritalin for a year and is doing fantastic. We weren't able to send her to school because of her hyperactivity, but with Ritalin she's totally changed her behavior. She's not a drugged child. I think before you make comments about the medication and think it's being used in the way that it is, I think you should learn about Attention Deficit Disorder so you have a little more information. It's obvious you don't know what you're talking about.

Get more info

I'm calling from Antioch in response to "Forget Ritalin." Teachers have a responsibility to teach and to provide every child with a quality education. In some cases this responsibility entails alerting the faculty and parents of a possible attention disorder in a child. In the school where I teach, a child suspected of having such a disorder is observed by a social worker, the school psychologist, a learning disorder specialist, the parents, and myself before medical attention is suggested. All of these people work together to do what is best for the child. If Ritalin is prescribed for the child, the doctor also enters this circle of support. Children with attention disorders can be greatly helped by medication and by the supportive environment in which they are learning. Those who have reservations about Ritalin need to learn more about the drug and under what circumstances it is prescribed.

Prayers are with you

I would like to offer my sincere condolences to Louise Loud and her family over the loss of their son, Arthur. What an ironic tragedy for this wonderful lady who has given so much of herself to the juvenile justice system, to have lost her son in this way. He was murdered in Kankakee on Nov. 7. Our hearts and prayers go out to this family. Hang in there, Louise, we need people like you.

Cleaning cop

I'd like to know why the Round Lake Park Police Dept. built a police station that they can't even maintain. They're taking one officer off the streets at night so he can vacuum, clean, and dust this building. What's happening on the streets while he's doing housework?

Who's he hurting?

This is for Trustee Fred Kutchkee. There was a time when he said he would never do anything to hurt senior citizens. By voting for the increase in Round Lake Beach's water prices, what does he think he's doing, not hurting senior citizens?

Extracurricular car

On Sunday, Nov. 10 at 6:03 p.m. I was driving north on Cedar Lake Rd. when I saw a village Geo Metro going north also. I said to my husband, "Where would a village car be going at this time?" The building dept. inspectors leave at 4:30 p.m. This car went the same way I did, all the way to Grass Lake Rd., when it turned right. What inspections do we do on Grass Lake Rd.? Was someone driving a village car home? Why, when the village claims it's broke? My tax money is paying for the person to use this car to drive back and forth to work? I can understand if it's the police chief or maybe the public works director, because they have emergencies. But the building dept., no way! By the way, this person cut me and someone else off. Why take the chance of losing a new car?

Way to go, Colts

I am calling to congratulate the Grayslake Colts on a great and memorable year. You young men and ladies have shown many people what true commitment is all about. All the hard work paid off for a truly successful season. Be proud to wear green—go Colts! P.S. Thank you to all the coaches for your time and energy, especially to Coach Dillon for his interest in the junior football program. Helping these children to strive to be their best is what it's all about!

PUBLIC NOTICE COUNTY ZONING NOTICE

STATE OF ILLINOIS ) COUNTY OF LAKE ) SS #2987
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given to all persons in the town of Lake Villa, Lake County, Illinois, that a public hearing will be held on Monday, December 18, 1995, at 2:00 p.m., in the Lake Villa Township Hall, 37908 N. Fairfield Road, Lake Villa, IL 60046, relative to a request to vary the terms of the Lake County Zoning Ordinance, Chapter Two, Section 4200.B.1. which prohibits rebuilding or reoccupying of any building or structure for any use except in accordance with the zone regulations of the zone in which it is located that is destroyed by any means to an extent of more than fifty percent (50%) of the replacement cost of that portion of the principal and accessory buildings which are above the average ground elevation. Applicants had to rebuild the exterior walls and interior of the westerly house in the extent of more than fifty percent (50%) of replacement costs of said building above ground. The subject property is presently zoned Neighborhood Conservation/Urban Residential-3a and is legally described as follows:

Lot 1 in D.D. Campbell's Deep Lake Subdivision being a Subdivision of the North 609.24 feet of the South 1320 feet of the West 330 feet of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 34, Township 46 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian, according to the plat thereof recorded January 15, 1919, as Document 181326, in Book "K" of plats, page 14, in Lake County, Illinois.

The subject property is located on the north side of 3rd Street and bounded on the west by Grafton Road and on the east by Edgewood Street in Deep Lake, Lake Villa, Illinois.

As a result of the petition of JACEK KRUPKA, 38610 West Edgewood, Lake Villa, IL 60046 and LIDIA OLEKSY, 26618 West Woodland, Antioch, IL 60002 (record owners), which petition is on file and available for examination in the office of the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals, County Administration Building, 18 N. County St., Waukegan, IL 60085. All interested persons are invited to attend said hearing and be heard.

LAKE COUNTY ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS
CLAYTON L. CHRISTENSEN, Chairman

For this hearing, reasonable accommodation will be made for handicapped persons. This includes accommodation for the vision and hearing impaired if a request is made within 48 hours of the meeting time.

Dated at Waukegan, Illinois, this 27th day of November, 1995.

Christmas Tree

1. O Christ-mas tree, O Christ-mas tree! Thou tree most fair and love-ly!
 2. O Christ-mas tree, O Christ-mas tree! Thou hast a won-drous mes-sage:
 O Тан-нен-баум, O Тан-нен-баум! wie treu sind dei-ne Blat-ter!

The sight of thee at Christ-mas-tide Spreads hope and glad-ness far and wide.
 Thou dost pro-claim the Sav-ior's birth, Good will to men and peace on earth.
 Du gruenst nicht nur zur Som-mer-zeit, nein, auch im Win-ter, wenn es schneit.

O Christ-mas tree, O Christ-mas tree! Thou tree most fair and love-ly.
 O Christ-mas tree, O Christ-mas tree! Thou hast a won-drous mes-sage.
 O Тан-нен-баум, O Тан-нен-баум! wie treu sind dei-ne Blat-ter.

Silent Night

1. Si-lent night! Ho-ly night! All is calm, all is bright,
 2. Si-lent night! Ho-ly night! Shep-herds quake at the sight,
 3. Si-lent night! Ho-ly night! Son of God, love's pure light Stil-le Nacht, hei-li-ge Nacht! Al-len schlaeft, ein-sam wacht Round yon Vir-gin Moth-er and Child. Ho-ly In-fant, so ten-der and mild.

 Glo-ries stream from heav-en a-far, Heav'n-ly hosts sing, Al-le-lu-ia, Ra-diant beams from Thy ho-ly face, With the dawn of re-deem-ing grace,
 Nur aus traun-er, hoch-hei-li-ge Paar Hol-der Kun-den im lu-cki-gen Haar,

Sleep in heav-en-ly peace, Sleep in heav-en-ly peace,
 Christ, the Sav-ior is born! Christ, the Sav-ior, is born!
 Je-sus, Lord, at Thy birth, Je-sus, Lord, at Thy birth.
 Schlaf in himm-li-scher Ruh, Schlaf in himm-li-scher Ruh.

Jingle Bells

Brightly

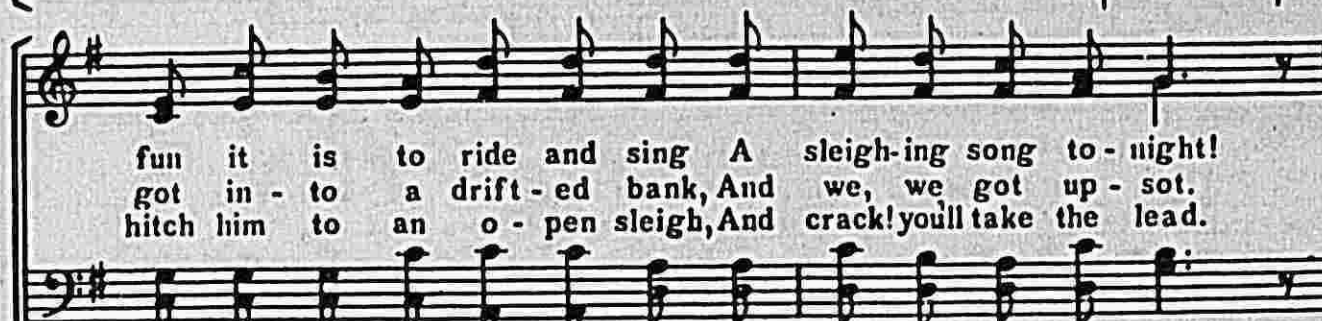

1. Dash-ing thro' the snow In a one horse o - pen sleigh,
2. Day or two a - go I - thought I'd take a ride, And
3. Now the ground is white, Go it while you're young;

O'er the fields we go, Laugh-ing all the way;
soon Miss Fan-nie Bright Was seat-ed by my side. The Take the girls to - night, And sing this sleigh-ing song; Just Bells on bob-tail ring, Mak-ing spir-its bright; What horse was lean and lank, Mis-for-tune seem'd his lot, He get a bob-tailed nag, Two for-ty for his speed, Then fun it is to ride and sing A sleigh-ing song to - night!

got in - to a drift-ed bank, And we, we got up - sot.
hitch him to an o - pen sleigh, And crack! you'll take the lead.

REFRAIN

Jin-gle Bells! Jin-gle Bells! Jin-gle all the way! Oh, what fun it is to ride

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: Many months ago I read one of your articles which gave me a lot of insight as to how to handle this type of situation in a professional manner. Last month I gave notice to my employer of six years for reasons of having been offered other employment. I worked for a mid-sized company in a supervisory capacity and over the past five years had only received merit increases in my salary which after five years didn't meet cost of living or even market for my position. I interviewed for other positions on my time, not on company time, dealing with after-hour interviews as well as weekends. Never did I lose the momentum with my own job nor did I have an "I don't care" attitude. I waited until the last two weeks to give notice to my employer. I was given a start date on my new position of four weeks, which allowed me time to prepare for a smooth transition. The day came to give my notice and I asked the boss for a few minutes of his time. I previously discussed this with no one in the company so as not to bring attention to my departure before it was time. The boss never got back to me that day and so the next morning I once again asked if I could have a few minutes of his time. He said he would meet with me after lunch. That too came and went. The next morning I approached him to say that it was now important that I speak with him and that I have been trying to for three days. He then invited me in to his office where I sat and explained that I have accepted another position with a firm. He asked why and my explanation was that I felt that while my job was still a challenge and I did enjoy it, I was offered an increase in salary of $6,000 per year to start. This, I said, was very important to me to continue to increase my earnings as my increases with him were quite limited. I explained that I would be happy to stay on for what was now left of the two weeks I had planned to give him and thereby help to find and train a replacement. Over the next two days, the news spread like a fire throughout the office. People approached me with their knowledge of my leaving which could only have been generated by the boss, as I told no one. Over the course of the next week I was treated like dirt from all management (including the boss), pushed to work overtime hours and not compensated for it, and given a variety of ridiculous tasks to do. It was as though they were hoping I would just walk out. The day I left only one person said goodbye to me. My boss did not even wish me luck. I have now started my new position yet still am bugged by the unprofessional manner in which my former employer reacted. I now understand why some people and corporations part company on the day in which the notice to terminate is given. I feel good about one thing, however, and that is that I have a clear conscience about leaving professionally. Thank you for your advice. K.M. - Deerfield

A: Dear K.M. I am glad I could help. Perhaps your boss was hoping you would leave before too many employees realized they too were underpaid. Sometimes this causes a domino effect. You were right to say nothing.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

Looking For A Great Place To Work?

We usually aren't ones to brag, but we feel so good about our people and the way we do business, we wanted to tell you about them.

Amid the hustle and bustle of the clothing business, we care about our customers and employees (some say that makes us special). Our job in the Lands' End Outlet stores is to support the catalog business up in Wisconsin, known for the friendliest service in the business. In the stores, you'll help extend that service to our retail customers. Add in terrific savings and you'll be part of an attractive, comfortable and friendly place to shop.

You'll learn about Lands' End products and services, and your ideas will get a hearing, too. You'll dress in Lands' End clothing because of a great clothing allowance. Plus, you'll have a flexible schedule, receive a generous discount on merchandise, and we're competitive in our wages.

If you want more than a job, we would like to meet you! We are hiring for Sales and Senior Sales positions. Please call us at 1-800-332-0117, ext. 4485 or call any of the following stores directly:

Schaumburg, 1522 E. Golf, 708-413-0100

FISHER AND FISHER FILE NO. 27046
IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS
EASTERN DIVISION
Harvest Savings Bank, FSB v/a Dubuque Savings and Loan Association, Plaintiff, Case No. 94 C 6646
VS. Judge NORDBERG
Ronald Fine and Ellen S. Fine, Norwest Financial Illinois Inc. and Household Retail Services

Defendants. NOTICE OF SPECIAL COMMISSIONER'S SALE OUR FILE NO. 27046

(IT IS ADVISED THAT INTERESTED PARTIES CONSULT THEIR OWN ATTORNEYS BEFORE BIDDING AT FORECLOSURE SALES)

Public Notice is hereby given pursuant to a Judgment entered in the above entitled cause on January 12, 1995.

I, Alan Mills, Special Commissioner for this court will on December 20, 1995, at the hour of 1:30 p.m., at the front door of the Lake County Courthouse, 18 N. County, Waukegan, Illinois, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described premises:

32 Montgomery Lane, Vernon Hills, IL 60061

The improvements on the property consist of single family, aluminum with brick, raised ranch with an attached garage.

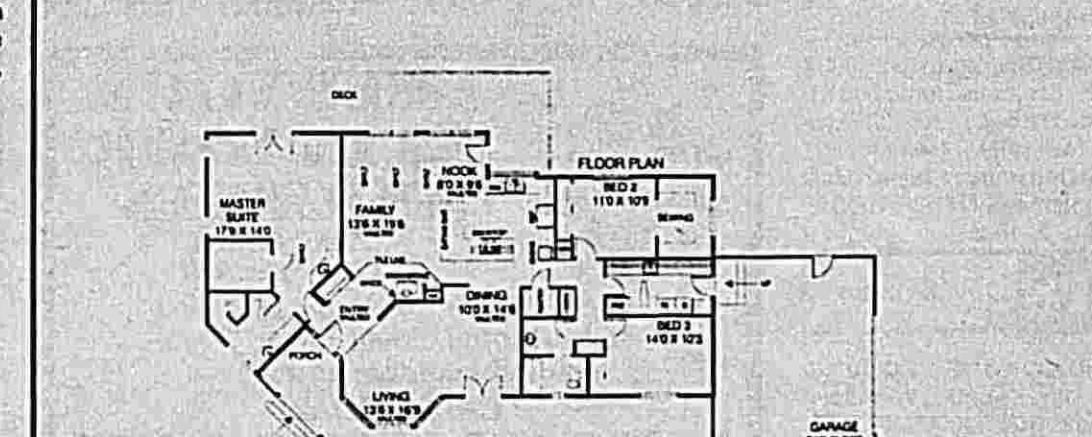

Sale Terms: 10% down by certified funds, balance within 24 hours, certified funds. No refunds. The sale shall be subject to general taxes and to special assessments.

The property will NOT be open for inspection.

The judgment amount was $99,533.84.

Upon the sale being made, the purchaser will receive a Certificate of Sale which will entitle the purchaser to a Deed on a specified date unless the property is redeemed according to law.

For information call the Sales Officer at Plaintiff's Attorney, Fisher and Fisher, 30 North LaSalle, Chicago, Illinois. (312) 372-4784 from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. Under Illinois law, the Sales Officer is not required to provide additional information other than that set forth in this Notice.

WADE
A wide front porch, with lattice trim and waist-high railing, adds a down-home touch to the charming country-style Wade. A sturdy lap siding exterior and a durable shake roof bring a solid permanence to this 2228 square foot beauty. Abounding in curb appeal, and economical to construct on a medium-sized lot, the Wade delivers plenty of value for the building dollar.

The interior floor design is one that imparts an openness in the family gathering areas, while allowing privacy and tranquility in the sleeping quarters. The isolated master suite is a good example. Located in the back left corner of the home, the master suite combines elegance with insulation. A generous sleeping area leads the list of available amenities. Others include a huge walk-in closet, vanity, private bathroom, skylight and personal access to the back deck.

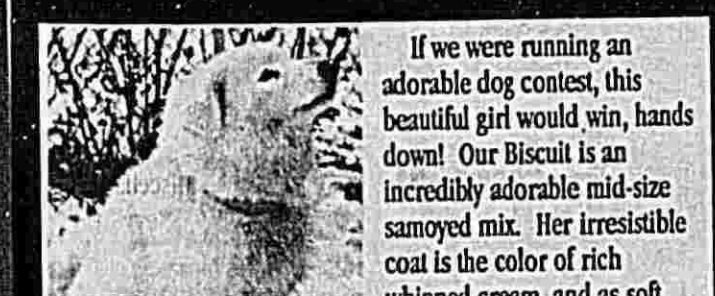

The vaulted family room, kept bright by multiple skylights and warmed by a built-in wood stove, is open to the breakfast nook and kitchen. Only a handy eating bar and cooktop separate these areas. The nook has an entrance to the deck, and the kitchen features double ovens and walk-in pantry in addition to all the built-in appliances.

The number two bedroom is unique in that it has a separate sewing section fitted into the design. If desired, the front portion of this room could easily be converted to a den or television room. The third bedroom, toward the front, is good-sized and has liberal closet space. Between the two bedrooms, with convenient access to the garage, is a large utility room with sink, built-in ironing board and room for a freezer. Nearby is a full bathroom along with plenty of room for linen storage.

The formal dining room, right across the hall from the kitchen for easy serving, has a vaulted ceiling. French doors swing open onto the porch, letting the cool summer evening breeze enhance your mealtime pleasure. The vaulted entry leads right into the spacious living room. A large bay window provides the view as you entertain your guests over after dinner coffee.

For a study kit of the WADE (403-14), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark or call 1-800-562-1151.

PET OF THE WEEK

Biscuit
If we were running an adorable dog contest, this beautiful girl would win, hands down! Our Biscuit is an incredibly adorable mid-size samoyed mix. Her irresistible coat is the color of rich whipped cream, and as soft and plush as your favorite teddy bear. Her sweet face is a mirror for the sweet personality that makes this girl a winner in every way. Biscuit is only two years old and one look at her gentle eyes will melt your heart. Calm and attentive, Biscuit has had some training. She will sit on command and wants to please whoever she's with. Biscuit loves rawhide chew bones and treats but she loves people even more. Biscuit adores attention and is eager for love. In fact, she is longing for a home and is hoping that some lucky family will fall in love with her. She has been a shelter orphan since June of 1995. Cage 25.
Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care, and much more.
Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. - 5 p.m., seven days a week. Call (708) 945-0235 for further information.

Don't be a Scrooge—celebrate the holidays in a variety of ways

Fashion show

"Through the Looking Glass: A Stroll Through Turn-of-the-Century Lake Forest" will take place on Friday, Dec. 8, from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at Gorton Community Center, 400 E. Illinois Rd., Lake Forest. Tickets are priced at $5 and include coffee, tea and scones.

Invite your friends to join you on this fashion voyage back in time to the turn of the century, a simpler era filled with grace and charm.

Vintage Victorian and Edwardian ballgowns, streetwear and wedding apparel from the collection of John Glon will be shown. Models will demonstrate the intricacies and delicacy of life in a bygone time.

A patrician lady, portrayed by Sylvia Brown, tells how each garment relates to her life in Lake Forest and Lake Bluff—from finishing school to her wedding day to her social life, the envy of every lady in town. Her readings and narration will blend history and humor for a unique and informative program. A delightful entree to the holidays!

For further information, call 234-6060 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Winter Wonderland

Winter Wonderland 1995 at the Cuneo Museum and Gardens is now open with one mile of lighted, animated exhibits. This year's theme is "The Magic of The Nutcracker." The mansion will shine with nutcracker images, including a 22-foot Nutcracker figure on the front lawn, along with other favorite characters.

A Winter Wonderland runs through Jan. 1. Hours are 6 to 10 p.m. nightly. Admission is $5 per car ($7 on Friday and Saturday). For more information call 367-3700.

Save-A-Pet party

Save-A-Pet will hold its annual Holiday Party on Dec. 9 and 10 from noon to 5 p.m. at the shelter at 2019 Rand Rd. in Palatine. Refreshments will be served while staff and volunteers greet guests and answer questions concerning the pets in the shelter. Pets can also be adopted.

Merchandise from the Save-A-Pet Thrift and Gift Shop in Skokie will be sold on premises. The Building Fund Committee will also have a room for their items. At 3 p.m. on Sunday the Grand Holiday Raffle drawing will be held. Winners need not be present. Raffle tickets may be bought right up until the time of the drawing. Call 934-7788 for details.

PET PARADE

BC Dog Training provides puppy daycare

Puppies are not quite like children, but if you use common sense, the task of raising the puppy through adulthood can be a lot easier.

First and foremost: If you are buying the puppy from a breeder or from a pet store, the most important factor to consider is, the puppy must be healthy. Use the 48 hours to get the puppy checked out completely. If you don't like the veterinarian that was recommended, see that one first, then go to another veterinarian of your choice. If there is anything wrong, go back to the breeder or the store immediately, don't wait. The breeder or the store should back up their claims for healthy, illness free puppies.

Once you have the puppy, keep your puppy healthy. Please don't hedge on the vaccinations, they are extremely important for your puppy's and your health sake.

One of the most common questions that I am asked regarding raising a puppy is: Why is my puppy always nipping and biting me?

Dogs start learning to bite from a very early age. One reason puppies have those little, useless needles for teeth is so that when they are play-fighting with their little brothers and sisters and they bite too hard, they hurt—that's the only reason why they have them, to cause pain.

"Bite Inhibition" must be taught and learned at a very early age. Between four and 18 weeks, the puppy's jaw muscles are not developed and so those sharp little teeth are there as a substitute for the lack of power. Therefore, it is perfectly normal for our puppies to bite us. They are undergoing a natural learning process and it is our job to teach them, at this stage, that biting humans is not acceptable.

The best way to teach them not to bite is to observe what happens between two puppies. When one bites too hard the other yelps and the biter lets go immediately. So, if we let out a sharp cry of pain every time our puppy's teeth come into contact with our skin (don't wait until it hurts), we can quickly desensitize it from using its teeth on us.

Puppy daycare can also help with your little nipper. Instead of leaving your little one home alone all day, daycare will help socialize, crate train, potty train and get rid of that excess energy!

BC Dog Training is located at 872 Tower Rd., Mundelein. Daycare doors open at 6 a.m.

FOUR PAWS TRAINING CENTER

"Positive Training With Positive Results"

All training methods are not alike. Come visit us during classes and observe a different approach to dog training. Our methods utilize food, enthusiasm and praise, and exercises are broken down into pieces both dogs and owners can manage. We have classes for puppies and older dogs, and for all levels of obedience competition training. For more information please give us a call.

CLC men find ingredients, claim third place at Harper

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Early defense and late free-throw shooting was the College of Lake County recipe for victory.

The Lancers used defensive pressure early, then made 15 of 18 free throw tries and held off McHenry County College 97-89. The win gave CLC the third-place title at Harper College's men's basketball tournament.

Robert Kindle scored 22 points in the third-place game and Robert Swanson had 14 as CLC gained its third win in eight games.

CLC's depth at guard set the tone for this clash as well. Pete Ferguson had 15 points, with Jason Black adding 14 and Mike Tschanz chipping in with seven.

"We have improved a lot on our fast breaking. This is Coach (Bruce) Smith's last year, so we want this to be a winning season," Kindle said.

"We were playing to win. We are all pretty equal skill wise this year. It seems one guy is just stepping up," Ferguson, a Stevenson High grad, said. "Tonight it was Rodney. This was a good one. We have a good game with Rock Valley next week."

CLC battles in a 3 p.m. home game against Rock Valley Saturday.

Tschanz said the CLC depth at guard wears people down.

"We got our lead in the first half with our changing defense. It had them a little confused. This should give us confidence for the conference season," Smith said.

CLC started the game with an 8-0 spurt as Kindle converted a steal into a lay-up basket.

Perimeter shooting helped keep the Scots close and the first McHenry lead was assumed midway through the first half, 26-25.

CLC put on a 9-4 run for an eight-point, 52-44 cushion at intermission. Kindle contributed a basket on a drive, Ferguson nailed three free throws and a field goal, and Jason Black added a pair of charity tosses.

Joel Dangel kept McHenry at bay with a hoop for a 4-point lead and Tschanz hit a trey for a five-point cushion and a lay-up.

Kindle began the streak of successful CLC free throws with a pair with 4:36 left. CLC went on to make nine straight.

In the tourney opener, CLC challenged Milwaukee Tech before falling 93-88.

Dangel, a Warren High grad, had 16 points and Ferguson had 15. Kurt Filiatreault had 14 and Swanson 12 to key the inside attack. Kindle had 11, while Black and Davis contributed 10 each.

Kindle, after the 22-point effort, also gave it his best shot in the three-point shot competition, finishing second.

Nye leads MHS to first tourney championship

A sophomore proved to be a clutch player for Mundelein High's girls basketball team, as the Mustang squad proudly wears the tournament championship medals.

The Mustangs outlasted a tough Carmel team 31-26 to win their own tourney championship.

Soph Courtney Nye gave the home team the win with four free throws in the final 23 seconds, as well as a deflected shot on defense.

"I just stepped up and hit them. It was not that hard. We work on it a lot in practice," Nye said of free-throw shooting.

Nye is one of two sophs on first-year Coach Ashley Struggles' squad, which is 4-0 heading into North Suburban Conference play.

"The win will give us a big boost heading into the NSC. This will give us some confidence," Struggles said.

This is the first time Mundelein has won the tourney. Warren High won the meet all of the seven years the Blue Devils were in it.

Katie Fitzgerald is another soph on the varsity. Fitzgerald spent about half of last year on the varsity. There was some steady senior leadership, with Toni Campbell helping MHS down the stretch. Her basket gave Mundelein a three-point lead, 25-22.

"Toni played her heart out," Struggles said.

Highland Park the Giants of Grayslake Gold Ball Classic

DANIEL RAMAGE

Sports Editor

Buzzer beaters are great, unless you're the team that gets beat to the buzzer.

For the Highland Park Giants boys' basketball team, Saturday night's three-pointer by Robby Marks was indeed great. With no time to spare, Marks drove to the left side of the court, pulled up and fired from three-point land. Final score: 68-65, Highland Park.

The game secured the 1995 Gold Ball Classic Thanksgiving Tournament crown for Highland Park, who went 3-0 against tough squads from host Grayslake and Antioch. The buzzer beater came at the expense of Lake Zurich, who battled back from a 38-29 halftime deficit tie the game with 2:49 remaining on a three-pointer by Jason Jacobs.

Highland Park then ran the clock down to just over 11 seconds before attempting a shot. The Giants' Michael Goldner fouled on the rebound attempt, giving Lake Zurich the ball and an opportunity to win.

The Giants fouled with 5.2 seconds remaining and Lake Zurich inbounded from half court. A second later, HPHS's John Pure stole the ball and the Bears' scoring opportunity, immediately calling time out. The Giants then inbounded the ball, Marks broke for the open trey, and the rest is history.

"We felt with 3.9 seconds left that the worst scenario we should come out with was going into overtime," said Lake Zurich coach John Zarr, whose team beat Grayslake in earlier play but fell to Antioch. "Highland Park has a lot of last-second plays they use, and they're very well coached. They chose one of them and ran it to perfection."

Jacobs led all scorers for the game with 21 points. Teammates Jim Roberts, Thor Solverson and Randy Witt pitched in with 13, 12 and 10 points respectively.

HPHS also placed four players in double scoring figures, Pure leading the way with 20. Dan Gore added 17 for the Giants, while Marks tallied 13 and Michael Goldner 10.

The Giants jumped out to an early lead in the first half on the strength of their rebounding and their acumen from the foul line. Highland Park was nine of 11 from the charity stripe in the first half.

The Bears made some effective adjustments at halftime, however, and the rebounding picked up.

The scoring machine started to fire on all cylinders as well.

"Our rebounding had a big impact on bringing us back into the game," said Zarr. "We picked up the intensity level and played harder. I think we got a little bit more into our offense in the second half. I was pretty happy with the way our kids got us back into the ballgame and got us an opportunity to win it."

Though his squad didn't win the tournament crown, Antioch Sequoit coach Jeff Dresser saw plenty in his team that leaves him optimistic for the season ahead.

"Overall, we're pleased," said Dresser. "We came out with two wins against good competition. We had a lot of people touch the ball in the right places in the offense where they know they can make the shot. When we get to run our offense like that, we can score in a lot of different ways."

The Sequoits assured themselves a winning tourney record

Saturday with a 67-39 win over the Grayslake Rams. Antioch took the lead early and never looked back.

The Sequoits' big gun was stand-out center Kevin Eckenstahler. The 6-3 senior led all scorers with 14 points, most of them muscled in from inside the lane. The Antioch big man was also a force on the boards. That was a welcome sight to Dresser, who saw the Sequoits get most of their points in the first two tourney games from the backcourt.

"In the first two games, the guards were scoring most of the points," said Dresser. "We have to have that good inside effort, too. We had it tonight."

Two other Antioch cagers also scored in double figures, guard Eric Campbell and Kevin Geraghty each contributing 10 points to the Antioch effort.

Though Grayslake coach Greg Groth was not happy about emerging winless from the tournament his team hosted, he did see things for the Rams to build on.

"We played three really good teams, and we played a couple of decent ballgames," said Groth. "All we can do is learn from this. By playing this type of competition, we come out with some losses, but if we had lost to three lousy teams I might look at it differently."

Groth's squad was also plagued by some inopportune injuries. He lost junior Dan Burau for a sizable portion of the tournament game with a head injury that required six staples to close. He also lost senior center Luke Kron to an ankle injury after a 21-point performance. Kron's return is still unknown, but Burau came back on Saturday to play a solid game.

"We had three juniors who stepped it up in the tournament," said Groth. "Dan Burau, Dan Domutz and Aaron Clark, all three are juniors and I thought all three played well. Burau had eight rebounds and drew a couple of charges. We could have used him against Lake Zurich because he plays bigger than he is."

Grant boys win two in tourney

Grant used strong helpings of offense and defense to win two of three games at the Johnsburg Thanksgiving Tournament.

The Bulldogs concluded the tourney with a 61-37 rout of Richmond-Burton after downing Johnsburg 64-57. The season started with a loss to eventual tournament champ Cary-Grove.

"We played exceptional basketball for two and one-half quarters. The defensive end was outstanding and the offensive end was a clinic. Whatever we ran worked," Grant Coach Tom Maple said of the Richmond game.

Jason Loring scored 16 points to lead the Bulldogs as the game was decided in the first half, 27-10 Grant lead.

"Jason played his best game of the year. He averaged 8 points and 10 rebounds a game," Maple said.

Brian Mikels and Mike Nelson made the all-tournament team from Grant. Mikels contributed 13 points, four assists, six rebounds and a pair of recoveries against the Rockets.

"We progressively showed improvement," Maple said.

The Bulldogs host Grayslake in the first Northwest Suburban Conference game at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 1.

Nelson was the force in the Johnsburg game, scoring 23 points. Adam Mooney added 12.

"We just went inside. It is a lot easier on the boards with Mooney there," Nelson said.

Mooney is trying to adjust to new surroundings. He transferred to the Fox Lake school from the Daytona Beach, Fla. state championship team.

Maple saw improvement on defense from the first night to the second.

The turning point against the Skyhawks came with a 23-17 third period run.

Pat DeVoy led the Johnsburg effort with 13 points. Keith Smith, later named all tournament, also had 13 and had a stellar 25-point game in a 76-60 loss to Cary.

"Each game, we played well in stretches, but we did not shoot well tonight," Johnsburg Coach Ed Sennett said after the Grant game. "We would get a six- or seven-point lead and then slow down."

He credited several fast-break baskets as the key to pulling away from Richmond 73-58.

Johnsburg hosts Wauconda in the first NWSC contest Dec. 1.

Pats survive for OT win at Warren

This is why the play is called the "do or die" play.

Tauja Catchings' only three-point basket of the night gave Stevenson High's girls basketball team a chance to survive an overtime thriller Tuesday, winning 47-41 at Warren.

"I wanted to do something. It was my worst game. I did not even hit the rim on a free throw. I did not even square up on the shot," Catchings said.

The senior finished by making five baskets in a row after starting the game missing that many. The defending state champs had to overcome an 11-point Warren lead. The comeback was complete when Catchings beat the buzzer with the trey from the left side which caught nothing but net. She was fouled, but missed the free throw.

"We practice the play like we were down by five, four or three points," SHS Coach Frank Mattucci said.

The Pats (4-0, 1-0 North Suburban Conference) faced a 39-36 deficit when Julie Minuskin (17 points) hit a pair of free throws with 6.9 seconds left. There was 1.9 seconds left when the shot went over the outstretched arms of soph Nichole Thompson.

"We controlled the tempo and did not make bad decisions. We looked for the open shots. But give Stevenson credit. That is why they are the best team in the state," Warren Coach Bruce Campbell said.

Warren (4-3, 0-1) looks to stay over .500 when it hosts Carmel at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 2. Stevenson looks to stay on a roll when it faces York at the Maine West tourney Dec. 1 and against Hersey Dec. 2.

The last-second touch on offense was not the only asset Catchings brought to the league opener. She was an intimidator on Stevenson's press and inside. A particularly memorable swat was made of a Tracy Fiedler baseline shot in the second half.

The Pats were 3-0 at the Maine West Thanksgiving tourney. Catchings scored 18 points and Coleman and Carolyn Roth had 11 each in a 55-43 win over Whitney Young.

CLC women find the right mix in first winning effort

Balanced inside and perimeter scoring added up to the first victory for College of Lake County's womens basketball team.

The Lancers downed Milwaukee Tech 68-58 at the Harper Thanksgiving tournament. In the first game, the guards accounted for just two points. But in the win, they accounted for 18.

Kenya Mason made the all-tournament team. The former North Chicago Warhawk scored 26 points and had 11 rebounds.

"We got scoring from the guards that we did not get the night before," CLC Coach Don Zeman said.

Ria Cruz had 10 points and Stephanie Sofie had eight. It was a three-point basket by Sofie which gave the Lancers the lead they would not give up in the second half.

"We got out to an early lead in the first half and that helped," Zeman said.

CLC gave Harper a run for the money in the first half before a 7-2 Harper run allowed the Hawks to grab a 30-21 halftime lead. It got worse for CLC in the second half as Harper started with a 7-0 run en route to a 63-40 win.

Mason had 16 points, Nicole Pollard 12 and Tasha Byrd 10, accounting for all but two points.

The Lancers found what intense defense is like in a 105-60 loss to Macolm X. Mason had 19 and Byrd and Cruz had 12 each.

"They had a full-court press for 40 minutes. We handled it well at times," Zeman said.

But it will be the Saturday win CLC will try and build on as the Lancers host Rock Valley in Grayslake at 1 p.m. Dec. 2. Rock Valley advanced to the national tournament last year. Non-conference tilts also included a clash with Joliet Nov. 30.

Frosh wins twice at Grant

Freshman Ed Michniewicz made a strong impression to lead Grant High's double winners as the 1995-96 season began on a pair of high notes.

The Bulldogs downed Mundelein 50-22 and Barrington 48-21 in the season opening night at home.

Michniewicz, a grade school wrestling champion, won by two first period pins.

"He is the real thing. Both matches were so fast, I wish he had gotten more experience," Grant Coach Dave Kapraun said.

WTHS boys pass season's 1st test

Warren High boys basketball Coach Chuck Ramsey believed Palatine Fremd to be akin to the type of team the Blue Devils will see when they play the top division North Suburban Conference season games.

This contest for the right to defend the Thanksgiving tournament title was a test passed with flying colors by Warren with an 83-68 domination. Some strong shooting and a large rebounding edge will get teams far and that is exactly what Warren had going for it as it prepares for the NSC opener at home against Stevenson (0-4) Dec. 1.

Maurice Foster had a hot hand cooled by a 20-minute fire alarm delay in the season-opening 60-56 loss to Waukegan, but stayed on fire against the Vikings. He scored 32 points, including six three-point baskets as Warren pulled away. His shooting numbers included, from three-point land alone: 0-1, 4-4, 2-3 and 0-2.

Don Hirschfeld had 17 points from his guard spot and Luke Moo had 29 points to lead the inside players.

Warren outmuscled Fremd 33-22 for rebounds. Luke Moo had 11 rebounds and drew a charge, Foster and Darnell Smith had six each.

Smith held down Paul Sharp, Fremd's leading scorer, to 26 points after a slow start.

Warren showed its depth in its two wins. Against Carmel in a 69-57 win, it was James Williams who came off the bench for six points. Mike Ryan spelled Luke Moo against Fremd and scored a pair of fourth-quarter baskets. Tony Muse ran the offense when the guards needed a breather. David Moo also added depth.

Against Carmel, Warren burst out to a 7-0 lead and led 19-8 after one.

Luke Moo would finish with 17 points. Foster scored 16, Hirschfeld 12.

It was Luke Moo's slam on a half-court assist by Andy Tryba which gave Warren a 66-51 lead with 1:25 left, ending a Carmel comeback thought.

MHS

Aja Brown and Colleen Krombach tried to keep Carmel in the game with baskets, but poor shooting did the Corsairs in.

Krombach had 13 points, but the next highest scorer had 6.

Carmel (3-1) had its largest lead at 13-8 as Amy Kocsis (four points) hit a basket and free throw.

A balanced scoring attack and competitiveness were among bright spots for Grayslake High's girls basketball team in the Mundelein tourney.

The Rams lost all three contests, the last a 50-43 decision to McHenry, but Coach Bobette Schoenbeck see some talent to build on. Poor starts doomed the Rams, who rallied but found the efforts to fall short.

"We just could not put the ball in the hole the first half," Coach Bobette Schoenbeck said.

The Rams only scored 4 points in the first eight minutes against McHenry and trailed 30-16 at half-time.

The team forced numerous McHenry turnovers in the third period, allowing itself to be back in the game with single-digit deficits.

Two free throws by soph Robyn Boydston cut the gap to 10 points. Grayslake missed three shots at trimming the lead, but when Shannon Fridone connected, the lead was down to eight points. But McHenry's Jeanette Jamie hit a clutch three-point basket for a 39-28 lead after three.

Down by 11, the Rams did not give up, cutting the lead to 48-43 on a basket by Dana Dorr (three points) with :27 left.

That was as close as Grayslake would come, as the Rams missed two 3-point baskets.

"We went from a man-to-man to a press to put pressure on their shooter, Dana Kwapniewski (19 points). We came out hustling in the second half," Schoenbeck said.

She described the offense as balanced. Against McHenry, Chenoa Chebny and Bodyston led the way with 11 points each. Chebny had 18 points in the season-opening loss to Mundelein.

The Rams, who also fell to Carmel, will have another chance at the Corsairs Dec. 6 in an away non-conference battle.
